FIRE DAMAGES FORMER COACH HOUSE—A blaze which firemen said originated in a lean-to adjoining a frame and brick structure at the rear of a property owned by former City Judge Aaron E. Klein at 60 West Chestnut Street, raged through the main building between 6 and 7 p. m. Thursday, and sparks set fire to two area roofs. The building was three stories high facing McEntee Street, and two stories on the West Chestnut Street side. Sparks set fire to the roof of a house owned by Anthony G. Saccoman, 18 West Chestnut Street and to the roof of another owned by John Van Gonsic at 32 West Chestnut Street. Roof sections in both were removed by firemen in checking the fires which were discovered in time to prevent costly damage. A telephone call at 6:30 p. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 3111, Broadway and McEntee Street. Units from Central and Cornell stations, Union, Rapid and the Wicks companies responded. The property was formerly owned by the late John Weber. Attorney Klein said today that nothing of value had been stored in the barn. Reports today indicated that area boys had been using an underground cavernous area on the property for a club house without permission. Deputy Fire Chief George D. Matthews (center above) was in charge with Chief Brett, and to the right is Patrolman John Kennedy. Origin of the fire, Chief Brett said, is undetermined. The fires on wood shingles, the chief said, were examples of their hazard potential as compared to fire proof shingles. (Freeman photo).

Churchill Back With Fighting V

Sir Winston Faces Major Surgery

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill returned to London by jet-powered flying ambulance today and flashed his fighting V-for-victory sign despite his broken thigh and its threat of major surgery.

The old battler, wearing green pajamas, smiled bravely as his stretcher was lowered from the Royal Air Force Comet that brought him home from his short-lived vacation on the Riviera.

A room was ready for him at the Middlesex Hospital near London's West End. There authorities said he may have to undergo an operation for his injury.

Pale But Undefeated

His left leg in a plaster cast after a fall in his Monte Carlo holiday hotel room Thursday, Britain's 87-year-old wartime leader looked pale but as undefeated as ever.

Lady Churchill was the first to move toward the plane. She was accompanied by Lord Moran, Churchill's old friend and doctor; and Randolph Churchill, Sir Winston's only son.

Churchill was reported to have had a restful night at Princess Grace hospital in Monte Carlo.

An ambulance brought Churchill from the hospital to Nice, a few minutes from Monte Carlo, and drove directly onto the airfield.

Churchill's secretary, Anthony Montague Browne, said the doughty old warrior had enjoyed a good breakfast and was in high spirits.

Churchill appeared in such a mood when he was carried out of the hospital and put aboard the ambulance.

He gazed around at a horde of photographers and looked up at open hospital windows from which doctors and nurses were peering.

After blinking once or twice in the bright morning sunshine, Sir Winston flashed a wide grin. He kept his hands beneath his blankets, however, in spite of appeals from the photographers for his famous "V for victory" gesture.

Amazed by Constitution

Hospital attaches paid tribute to Churchill's iron constitution. One said a lesser man would not have been able to endure the flight back to England so soon after such an accident.

From his hospital bed before his departure, he sent a telegram to the House of Commons expressing thanks for messages of concern voiced in the House.

Doctors pronounced Churchill in good condition Thursday night after setting the fracture and applying a plaster cast from his left ankle to above the hip.

Churchill has been amazingly resilient, recovering from at least two heart attacks, a bout with pneumonia and another fall that

Soblen Expulsion Looms With Israel Visa Doubted

DR. SOBLEN ARRESTED IN ISRAEL—Fugitive Dr. Robert A. Soblen covers his face as he is driven in police van to police headquarters in Tel Aviv, Israel, after his arrest. At right is Police Inspector Shalon Yarkoni. Soblen, convicted spy for the Soviet Union, fled from New York, the day before his scheduled surrender to begin serving a life sentence. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Tel Aviv).

Ruling Due By Cabinet On Sunday

Ailing Fugitive Now in Hospital

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Quick expulsion that could lodge him back in U.S. hands seemed in prospect today for Dr. Robert A. Soblen, bail-jumping fugitive from life imprisonment in the United States as a Soviet spy.

It was learned authoritatively that Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's government is not willing to grant Soblen a visa to stay in Israel and that, his health permitting, he is expected to be ousted soon.

May Precede Trial

The action may come before he is brought to trial on the allegation of entering Israel with false papers—a charge which Soblen denies.

Cabinet machinery went into highest gear following the arrival this morning of a U.S. State Department request that Soblen be returned to the United States to start serving the sentence he was supposed to start Thursday.

Ben-Gurion is understood to have been consulted personally. Though it is an Interior Ministry responsibility, the case is expected to involve the Foreign and Justice ministries as well. Informed circles said the Cabinet would consider the case at its regular meeting Sunday.

The ailing, 62-year-old Soblen, seized here less than 60 hours after he jumped $100,000 bail in New York, was taken to the hospital in Ramleh Prison when he complained he did not feel well. A doctor testified at his trial last June that Soblen was incurably ill with leukemia — cancer of the blood — and then had 12 months to live.

Open to Return

A spokesman for Israel's justice ministry indicated his government would be sympathetic toward Washington's demand for Soblen's return. He said Israel does not want to become a refuge for persons convicted abroad.

The United States and Israel do not have an extradition treaty, but informants here said Israel could hand Soblen over anyhow. They reasoned that Soblen was convicted of a political crime, rather than a common criminal offense, and that such crimes as espionage are not within normal extradition treaty terms.

Soblen, former supervising psychiatrist at Rockland State Hospital in Orangeburg, N.Y., had been scheduled to show up in New York federal court Thursday to begin the life sentence for 20 years of spying. The U.S. Supreme Court refused last Monday to review the case, and Soblen then fled the country.

Lehman's Kin Helped

A U.S. District judge in New York ordered the $100,000 bail forfeited when Soblen failed to appear. Soblen's wife, a psychiatrist whose professional name is Dr. Dina Soble, had posted $40,000 and the remaining $60,000, in U.S. government bonds, was put up by Helen Buttenwieser, a lawyer and

May Need Saturday Session

Congress Rushing For Fiscal Cleanup

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress tries to clean up a number of fiscal year-end items today after voting to raise the national debt ceiling and providing funds to run the government next month.

Leaders said they hoped all necessary business for fiscal 1962, which ends Saturday at midnight, could be finished by late today. But a Saturday session may be needed, they said.

The jam occurs each June but this year's has involved more legislation than usual.

Two of the major items were cleared for President Kennedy Thursday.

The Senate sent to him a bill raising the debt limit to a record high of $308 billion for most of fiscal 1963 after beating back Republican efforts to trim it to $306 billion.

Both branches rushed through an emergency resolution permitting all government agencies to continue spending generally at current rates through July. This was necessary because not a single regular money bill for the new year has been passed by both branches and cleared through conference.

This almost unprecedented situation has resulted from a deadlock on protocol between the two appropriations committees — such things as whether a senator or House member shall preside at conferences.

Also sent to the President was a bill extending for another year the suspension of duties on scrap metal imports.

Slices Some Taxes

The President, meanwhile, signed into law a bill passed Wednesday by Congress to extend a series of Korean War taxes but to eliminate taxes on train and bus tickets and slice those on air fares to 5 per cent. The taxes which continue and bring in about $4.2 billion a year would have expired at the end of the fiscal year had legislation not been completed.

The conferees on the bill to extend the Export Control Act will have another go at an agreement during the day following a 44-33 Senate rejection of their handiwork Thursday night.

Thursday the conferees dropped all Senate and House amendments on the legislation and decided on a simple one-year extension. But some senators complained loudly at elimination of provisions they had sponsored aimed at tightening the law.

School Supplies For Area Are in Price-Fix Case

School supplies for Ulster and 37 other New York State counties are involved in a federal grand jury indictment of eight firms and 11 individuals on charges of conspiracy to allocate business and inflate prices.

The Justice Department in Philadelphia said Thursday night that the conspiracy covered five states.

Companion civil anti-trust suits against the corporate defendants and several other companies named as co-conspirators also were filed, an Associated Press dispatch revealed.

$15 Million Business

According to the indictments handed up to U.S. District Judge Abraham L. Freedman, the conspiracy involved the sale of notebooks, pencils, ink, chalk, erasers and other school supplies as far back as 1942.

The supplies were purchased by public school authorities in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

The indictments did not estimate the value of the merchandise involved, but the Justice Department noted that the firms named did more than $15 million worth of business in the six states annually.

Conviction on the charges carries penalties of one year in prison and $50,000 fines for individuals and $50,000 fines for corporations.

Police Ask Raise, Board Is Not Meeting Aldermen

A pay-boost bid for police department personnel was made at a Thursday night police board meeting and the board reported through a letter from Mayor John J. Schwenk that it will not comply with the Common Council's request for a joint meeting.

No specific sum is mentioned in the bid for salary increase presented by Officer John Crespino, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, but working conditions and the present maximum pay of $5,000 are cited.

Mayor Schwenk's letter noted that the board has "no desire" to meet with the aldermen as was proposed recently by majority members of the Common Council.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy's report showed 139 arrests made in May and 28 persons injured in 24 traffic mishaps.

Bid for Increase

The pay-boost bid said:

"As president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, which embraces 58 members of our city police department, I feel the public should be appraised of the reasons—justified, we sincerely believe—why a pay increase is sought.

"At the outset of this communication, please be assured that the foregoing facts are not, in any way, intended to seek general public sympathy. We fully realize as police officers that the public service aspect of the patrolmen's duties involve

Rocky Sees Nixon California Victor

BOSTON (AP) — Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York says he expects Richard M. Nixon to win the California governorship.

As for his own prospects as a potential GOP presidential nominee, Rockefeller says he is not looking beyond 1962.

"My feeling is that 1962 looms so big right now that 1964 is almost invisible in the background," Rockefeller told a news conference Thursday night.

"It's going to be a big Republican year in Massachusetts and New York."

He was in Boston to address a Republican fund-raising entertainment at Boston Garden. An estimated 8,000 persons paid $10 to $100 for seats.

Girls State Governor to Meet Rocky

Brisk voting marked the election of state officers at Thursday's session of Empire Girls State at State University College, New Paltz, and tonight formal inauguration ceremonies will be held.

Anne Elizabeth Decker, 60 Greenvale Avenue, Yonkers, Federalist Party candidate, was elected governor, and Viola Fulton, 968 Boston Road, the Bronx, also of the Federalist Party, was chosen lieutenant governor of Girls State.

Peekskill Girl Loses

Miss Decker won over Christine Dyckman of Peekskill, standard bearer of the Nationalist Party.

Nationalist Party candidates were victorious in contests for other state offices. They were: Marilyn Mogul, 69-81 183rd Street, Fresh Meadows, L. I., was elected comptroller, and Lynda Lubar, 215 Mount Hope Place, the Bronx, was elected attorney general.

Announcement of the election returns was made at a dinner held at the college last night, and resulted in a wave of excitement among the delegates as they cheered and congratulated the winning candidates.

The new state officers went to Albany this morning to visit state offices and meet Governor Rockefeller and other state officers the girls represent.

Presentation of a skit "Way Off Broadway" featured last night's program at New Paltz High School. Counselors were in charge of the skit, which proved popular with the delegates.

Conclude Tonight

The Girls State sessions opened Monday and will conclude tonight with the formal inauguration ceremony in charge of Mrs. Leonard Miscall. State Senator D. Clinton Dominick III will administer the oath of office to the new governor, lieutenant governor, comptroller, attorney general and county and city officers, who will wear ribbons designating the office to

Over Million to View Parade

Mexico City Packed For Kennedy Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City took on a holiday mood today to greet President Kennedy at the start of a three-day visit aimed at shoring up the good neighbor policy.

Hundreds of thousands of Mexicans massed to pay tribute to the chief executive in the midst of the burgeoning cold war over Latin America.

Portraits Decorate Route

Officials estimated more than a million spectators in this city of five million were trudging to points of vantage along the parade route from the airport to President Adolfo Lopez Mateos' official residence.

Portraits of Presidents Kennedy and Lopez Mateos, framed in gold and ready to be lighted at night, decorated the end of the route.

Accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy, the chief executive took off at 8:48 am. from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., after a helicopter flight from the White House.

The flight takes about four hours.

Rusk Early Visitor

Kennedy went to the airfield direct from a White House conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, back only Thursday night from a fence-building tour of Europe.

The President and Rusk were still in animated conversation as they left the White House. Rusk made the helicopter flight to the airport to see the Kennedys off, but did not fly south.

Mexicans planned a gigantic welcome. Schools were closing, government employes were being released and union members were instructed to turn out for the arrival at 11 a.m. Mexican time (1 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.)

Officials at Mexico City predicted one million persons would line the roads and pack the downtown streets and squares to cheer the motorcade bearing the Kennedys and Mexican President and Mrs. Adolfo Lopez Mateos. The officials also confidently forecast anti-U.S. elements would cause no trouble.

Some protests by placard were considered inevitable, but signs of friendship prevailed throughout the city in streamers and posters on building fronts.

President and Mrs. Lopez Mateos headed the welcoming party for a salute at the airport preceding the drive through the city to Los Pinos, official residence of the Mexican leader.

To get the visit off to a rousing start, 55 minutes were allowed for the procession along the route of less than 15 miles. That offered time for as many home folk as

Supervisors Are To Hear About Family Court Act

A special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors has been called for Thursday, July 5, at 8 p. m., in conjunction with a group from the Ulster County Bar Association for the purpose of discussing the new Family Court Act and to formulate such action as may be necessary thereto.

At the last meeting of the board, Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux, (R), Woodstock, called attention to the new legislation which becomes effective August first, known as the Family Court Act.

Can Have Wide Effect

It was the suggestion of Supervisor Molyneaux that the Bar Association be asked to assist in providing necessary information to the board of supervisors in relation to how this new legislation would effect Ulster County and to make suggestions as to possible courses which the board might take in complying with certain alternates provided for in the new law.

At that time he stated that the provisions of the Family Court Act were far-reaching and could affect Ulster County to a great degree. It was his suggestion that the Bar Association be asked to discuss this

House Passes Trade Expansion Bill, Kennedy Maps Strategy to Win Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his legislative leaders have scored a House victory with passage of the trade expansion bill. Now they're mapping Senate strategy to hold the ground gained.

The far-reaching bill, dynamo of Kennedy's drive to keep the dollar strong and weld a close economic partnership with Western Europe, was passed late Thursday by the House 298 to 125.

The hard-pressed Democratic leaders had won a preliminary victory on a 253-171 tally rejecting a Republican-offered substitute which had been calculated to have maximum appeal.

There was a substantial bipartisan element in both votes, since trade legislation divides Congress on economic as well as party lines.

If the Senate agrees to it, the bill will replace the present trade law, expiring Saturday midnight.

And, for the first time in the 28-year history of reciprocal trade legislation, there would be provision for keeping tariff cuts in effect even when individual businesses and their employes are hurt by imports. Loans, tax concessions and technical aid would be available to the firms hurt; adjustment payments during retraining to the workers.

The President would have authority to cut tariffs as much as 50 per cent. In dealings with the European Common Market on goods where the market countries and the United States provide the bulk of world exports, the duties could be cut to zero. They could be eliminated also in other special cases, such as non-competitive tropical products.

Kennedy, who had put the bill at the top of his legislative priority list, expressed gratification at the House action. He said it "reflects the national character of his legislation as well as its importance."

The bill is open to amendment in the Senate and several senators are expected to offer provisions to lessen injury to domestic industries. Observers predicted, however, that the bill will emerge much to the President's liking.

It stops first at the Senate Finance Committee. One member, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., predicted gentle treatment, but the chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said he is reserving judgment on the measure. He said the committee will have to have four or five weeks of hearings on the bill.

Administration leaders know they will face in the Senate efforts to make all the major changes in the legislation which were blocked in the House—and maybe more. These were considered certain to include efforts to eliminate the trade adjustment aid provisions, or at least to cut down the scale of payments to workers, which are higher than ordinary unemployment payments.

Also considered certain to come up is a proposed amendment to tighten oil import quotas.

Police Ask Raise, Board Is Not Meeting Aldermen

A pay-boost bid for police department personnel was made at a Thursday night police board meeting and the board reported through a letter from Mayor John J. Schwenk that it will not comply with the Common Council's request for a joint meeting.

No specific sum is mentioned in the bid for salary increase presented by Officer John Crespino, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, but working conditions and the present maximum pay of $5,000 are cited.

Mayor Schwenk's letter noted that the board has "no desire" to meet with the aldermen as was proposed recently by majority members of the Common Council.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy's report showed 139 arrests made in May and 28 persons injured in 24 traffic mishaps.

Bid for Increase

The pay-boost bid said:

"As president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, which embraces 58 members of our city police department, I feel the public should be appraised of the reasons—justified, we sincerely believe—why a pay increase is sought.

"At the outset of this communication, please be assured that the foregoing facts are not, in any way, intended to seek general public sympathy. We fully realize as police officers that the public service aspect of the patrolmen's duties involve

BOSTON (AP) — Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York says he expects Richard M. Nixon to win the California governorship.

As for his own prospects as a potential GOP presidential nominee, Rockefeller says he is not looking beyond 1962.

"My feeling is that 1962 looms so big right now that 1964 is almost invisible in the background," Rockefeller told a news conference Thursday night.

"It's going to be a big Republican year in Massachusetts and New York."

He was in Boston to address a Republican fund-raising entertainment at Boston Garden. An estimated 8,000 persons paid $10 to $100 for seats.

Girls State Governor to Meet Rocky

Brisk voting marked the election of state officers at Thursday's session of Empire Girls State at State University College, New Paltz, and tonight formal inauguration ceremonies will be held.

Anne Elizabeth Decker, 60 Greenvale Avenue, Yonkers, Federalist Party candidate, was elected governor, and Viola Fulton, 968 Boston Road, the Bronx, also of the Federalist Party, was chosen lieutenant governor of Girls State.

Peekskill Girl Loses

Miss Decker won over Christine Dyckman of Peekskill, standard bearer of the Nationalist Party.

Nationalist Party candidates were victorious in contests for other state offices. They were: Marilyn Mogul, 69-81 183rd Street, Fresh Meadows, L. I., was elected comptroller, and Lynda Lubar, 215 Mount Hope Place, the Bronx, was elected attorney general.

Announcement of the election returns was made at a dinner held at the college last night, and resulted in a wave of excitement among the delegates as they cheered and congratulated the winning candidates.

The new state officers went to Albany this morning to visit state offices and meet Governor Rockefeller and other state officers the girls represent.

Presentation of a skit "Way Off Broadway" featured last night's program at New Paltz High School. Counselors were in charge of the skit, which proved popular with the delegates.

Over Million to View Parade

Mexico City Packed For Kennedy Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City took on a holiday mood today to greet President Kennedy at the start of a three-day visit aimed at shoring up the good neighbor policy.

Hundreds of thousands of Mexicans massed to pay tribute to the chief executive in the midst of the burgeoning cold war over Latin America.

Portraits Decorate Route

Officials estimated more than a million spectators in this city of five million were trudging to points of vantage along the parade route from the airport to President Adolfo Lopez Mateos' official residence.

Portraits of Presidents Kennedy and Lopez Mateos, framed in gold and ready to be lighted at night, decorated the end of the route.

Accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy, the chief executive took off at 8:48 am. from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., after a helicopter flight from the White House.

The flight takes about four hours.

Rusk Early Visitor

Kennedy went to the airfield direct from a White House conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, back only Thursday night from a fence-building tour of Europe.

The President and Rusk were still in animated conversation as they left the White House. Rusk made the helicopter flight to the airport to see the Kennedys off, but did not fly south.

Mexicans planned a gigantic welcome. Schools were closing, government employes were being released and union members were instructed to turn out for the arrival at 11 a.m. Mexican time (1 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.)

Officials at Mexico City predicted one million persons would line the roads and pack the downtown streets and squares to cheer the motorcade bearing the Kennedys and Mexican President and Mrs. Adolfo Lopez Mateos. The officials also confidently forecast anti-U.S. elements would cause no trouble.

Some protests by placard were considered inevitable, but signs of friendship prevailed throughout the city in streamers and posters on building fronts.

President and Mrs. Lopez Mateos headed the welcoming party for a salute at the airport preceding the drive through the city to Los Pinos, official residence of the Mexican leader.

To get the visit off to a rousing start, 55 minutes were allowed for the procession along the route of less than 15 miles. That offered time for as many home folk as

Supervisors Are To Hear About Family Court Act

A special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors has been called for Thursday, July 5, at 8 p. m., in conjunction with a group from the Ulster County Bar Association for the purpose of discussing the new Family Court Act and to formulate such action as may be necessary thereto.

At the last meeting of the board, Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux, (R), Woodstock, called attention to the new legislation which becomes effective August first, known as the Family Court Act.

Can Have Wide Effect

It was the suggestion of Supervisor Molyneaux that the Bar Association be asked to assist in providing necessary information to the board of supervisors in relation to how this new legislation would effect Ulster County and to make suggestions as to possible courses which the board might take in complying with certain alternates provided for in the new law.

At that time he stated that the provisions of the Family Court Act were far-reaching and could affect Ulster County to a great degree. It was his suggestion that the Bar Association be asked to discuss this

House Passes Trade Expansion Bill, Kennedy Maps Strategy to Win Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his legislative leaders have scored a House victory with passage of the trade expansion bill. Now they're mapping Senate strategy to hold the ground gained.

The far-reaching bill, dynamo of Kennedy's drive to keep the dollar strong and weld a close economic partnership with Western Europe, was passed late Thursday by the House 298 to 125.

The hard-pressed Democratic leaders had won a preliminary victory on a 253-171 tally rejecting a Republican-offered substitute which had been calculated to have maximum appeal.

There was a substantial bipartisan element in both votes, since trade legislation divides Congress on economic as well as party lines.

If the Senate agrees to it, the bill will replace the present trade law, expiring Saturday midnight.

And, for the first time in the 28-year history of reciprocal trade legislation, there would be provision for keeping tariff cuts in effect even when individual businesses and their employes are hurt by imports. Loans, tax concessions and technical aid would be available to the firms hurt; adjustment payments during retraining to the workers.

The President would have authority to cut tariffs as much as 50 per cent. In dealings with the European Common Market on goods where the market countries and the United States provide the bulk of world exports, the duties could be cut to zero. They could be eliminated also in other special cases, such as non-competitive tropical products.

Kennedy, who had put the bill at the top of his legislative priority list, expressed gratification at the House action. He said it "reflects the national character of his legislation as well as its importance."

The bill is open to amendment in the Senate and several senators are expected to offer provisions to lessen injury to domestic industries. Observers predicted, however, that the bill will emerge much to the President's liking.

It stops first at the Senate Finance Committee. One member, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., predicted gentle treatment, but the chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said he is reserving judgment on the measure. He said the committee will have to have four or five weeks of hearings on the bill.

Administration leaders know they will face in the Senate efforts to make all the major changes in the legislation which were blocked in the House—and maybe more. These were considered certain to include efforts to eliminate the trade adjustment aid provisions, or at least to cut down the scale of payments to workers, which are higher than ordinary unemployment payments.

Also considered certain to come up is a proposed amendment to tighten oil import quotas.

Dutchess Youth Accident Victim, Sheriff Declares

A 16-year-old Dutchess County youth, whose sudden death Tuesday night in the home of a neighbor baffled authorities for two days, was the victim of an accident, according to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan.

Jean A. Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Chamberlain, LaGrangeville, died of asphyxiation due to a fractured larnyx.

County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding will conduct a formal inquest in July before rendering a final verdict.

Presume He Fell

Sheriff Quinlan reported Thursday that the Chamberlain youth was seen by a neighbor walking in Merry Hill Road near his home at about 9:45 p. m. Tuesday, and apparently the youth was all right at that time.

Chamberlain apparently entered a new house under construction in the Merry Hill area, Town of LaGrange, and fell striking his throat on a piece of lumber. Authorities said the youth evidently became frantic after he was injured and ran to the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gasparini seeking help.

Mrs. Gasparini was alone when the youth entered her home and called for a doctor. Mrs. Gasparini telephoned her husband who was a work at the Poughkeepsie IBM plant, and he called neighbors who hurried to the Gasparini home and saw Chamberlain dousing water on his head in the kitchen.

Can't Revive Him

Firemen from LaGrange administered oxygen but failed to save the youth's life. A physician pronounced him dead.

Evidence still being checked, authorities said, was a broken glass found in the youth's discarded jacket, picked up in a field nearby. Another broken glass was found at the foot of a stairway in the unfinished house where authorities say the youth was injured.

Chamberlain was president of the junior class at Wappingers Central School, and active in Boy Scout work.

AMA Leader Is Staunch Medicare Foe

CHICAGO (AP)—The president-elect of the American Medical Association is Dr. Edward R. Annis, a Democrat who for a year has been the AMA's chief spokesman in its fight to defeat President Kennedy's medical care program for the aged.

The AMA's House of Delegates upset the normal pattern of its elections Thursday by naming Dr. Annis, 49, a Miami, Fla. surgeon, to become head of the AMA, which has a membership of nearly 200,000. He will take office next June, succeeding Dr. George M. Fister of Ogden, Utah.

Groomed for Post

It was the first time in 40 years that the AMA elected a man who has not been groomed for the post through service in the House of Delegates. AMA councils or committees. Dr. Annis' only position in the AMA is chairman of the national speakers bureau.

The House of Delegates elected Annis by a vote of 142 to 65 for Dr. Raymond McKeown of Coos Bay, Ore., an AMA trustee.

Dr. Annis, the father of eight children, has become nationally known through television appearances in speeches in opposition to the King-Anderson bill for medical care for the aged which is backed by the Kennedy administration. He made the rebuttal to President Kennedy's plea for a bill at a New York rally last month. He also has appeared in television debates with senators and with Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers.

Reaffirms Opposition

The AMA, at the end of its five-day annual convention Thursday, reaffirmed its active opposition to the King-Anderson bill which would finance medical care for the aged from Social Security taxes.

The House of Delegates adopted a report declaring "King-Anderson type of legislation" would "lead to deterioation in the quality of medical care," and reminding doctors of the AMA principles of ethics. It urged doctors to work for better care of the aged through the Kerr-Mills law in which the federal government cooperates with states in meeting medical expenses.

Dr. Fister, commenting on the action, said: "We will take care of patients in our own manner and all who need care will receive it. If the bill passes, it still leaves freedom for the physician to practice under, or for the patient to consult under provisions of the law."

Candidates Are Interviewed for College Position

Two candidates for the office of president of Ulster Community College were interviewed Thursday night by members of the Board of Trustees, who plan to interview eight or 10 more applicants on July 4.

Harry Rigby Jr., temporary chairman of the board, said identity of the applicants will not be made public until the entire group of candidates are interviewed.

Chairman Rigby had agreed to serve in a temporary capacity on the Board only through June, and last night the trustees authorized him to appoint a nominating committee to select a slate of officers for the board and report at a meeting in July.

The chairman appointed Trustees McDonald DeWitt, Richard Whalen and Dr. Ina Sartorius members of the nominating committee.

Company Authorized

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission authorized Orange and Rockland Utilities Inc. today to provide natural-gas service in the village of Unionville, Orange County.

The company will construct a distribution system at an estimated cost of $82,900.

THREE INJURED IN MISHAP — A car driven by Josephine Maccaline, 27, of 241 East Union Street, police said, "apparently went out of control" and struck a pole (right) on North Street near Delaware Avenue at about 3:30 p. m. Thursday. After hitting the pole on the left side of the road, the report said, it skidded into bushes. Treated at Kingston Hospital for injuries of the face were the driver and three riding with her: Helene Maccaline, 2, Paul Maccaline, 4, of the same address, and Lena Esposito, 49, of 49 Lindsley Avenue. Paul Maccaline, the report said, also suffered injuries of the forhead and the right eye, and remained at the hospital. Officer Vincent Eckert (left) with Patrolman Thomas McGrane investigated. Sanitarium Site In Saugerties Sold for $2,500

The former Bonesteel Sanitarium property on Main Street in the Village of Saugerties was sold today for $2,500 to Mrs. Ann Karashay of 21 Division Street.

The sale was consummated for Chester H. Bonesteel and his mother, Mrs. Melinda Bonesteel of 52 Elm Street, by Daniel N. Lamb of Rosenblum and Lamb, Saugerties.

On October 24, 1960, the unoccupied 24-room structure operated as a private sanitarium for nearly 20 years, was severely damaged by an early morning fire of undetermined origin. Bonesteel at that time said he estimated the loss at $40,000.

The three-story structure is on a site between Washington Avenue and Cedar Street with 91 foot fronting on Main Street and 316 feet deep. The property is reportedly adjacent to that of Mrs. Karashay, who owns 115 by 95 feet on Division Street.

The former Martin Cantine homestead was purchased by Bonesteel in 1937 from Mrs. Anna Potts Cantine.

Bonesteel and his mother operated a private sanitarium at the site for 13 years. It was operated as Jodat's Sanitarium for five-and-a-half years before closing in July 1956.

At the time of the fire, the blazing building endangered the Main Street School which is a few doors away.

Going to Ballet Tonight

Kennedy confers twice with Lopez Mateos today, before receiving the keys to the city and attending a ballet with Mrs. Kennedy and Mexico's first family at the Palace of Fine Arts.

Only 3½ hours have been set aside through the 48-hour visit for private conversations between the chief executives, suggesting that their problems — while acute as between neighbors — are not as momentous as among great powers on other sides of the oceans.

As a demonstration of the U.S.-Mexican relationship, the World Bank, foreign aid agency and private banks have extended Mexico almost $300 million in credits over the last week. And Thursday the United States agreed to lend Mexico $20 million under the Alliance for Progress program.

He was taken by Fatum ambulance to the Benedictine Hospital where his condition was reported as "fair" today.

However, MacCollam did not indicate today whether there was any substance to the rumor. It was reported today on good authority that a meeting was scheduled for today with Ulster County Republican Central Committee Chairman Kenneth L. Soblen Expulsion niece of former Senator Herbert H. Lehman, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Buttenweiser, a banker's wife, said she put up the money because of her interest in changing bail systems. She said present systems benefit either the rich or criminals able to raise bond.

Informed sources said Soblen made his trip to Israel on a Canadian passport issued to his brother, Bruce — or Beras — Sobel, who is dead. Arrested in a tourist hotel at noon Thursday, he was ordered held for investigation on a charge of illegal entry into Israel.

It was learned that Soblen financed his flight with a $1,600 investment he withdrew from the Circle Manhattan Medical Group, an association of doctors. He received the money in a check and cashed it at a New York bank Monday. He left that night by airliner.

Soblen is the brother of a previously imprisoned Soviet spy, Jack Soble, 57, who was the government's star witness against him. Jack Soble still has two years to serve of a seven-year term. The brothers, natives of Lithuania, went to the United States in 1941 and were naturalized in 1947.

Wharton Hears Jersey Favors Flood Program

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton (R-29th Dist. of N. Y.) today announced receipt of a telegram from Commissioner H. Mat Adams, Conservation and Economic Development, State of New Jersey, informing him that the department endorses recommendation for alleviation of flood damage contained in the interim report on the Rondout Creek and Wallkill River.

Congressman Wharton stated that under the law, inasmuch as the upper portion of the drainage area of the Wallkill River is located in New Jersey, it was necessary to submit the report for New Jersey's approval.

All Are Favorable

The Congressman pointed out that it was necessary to submit the interim report to the Department of Interior, Department of Commerce, Agriculture and Health Education and Welfare as well as the New York State Department of Public Works and the New Jersey agency for review and comment.

With the receipt of the New Jersey endorsement of the report, all agencies have now reported favorably. The Congressman had been greatly concerned relative to the delay in receiving the New Jersey approval and had urged that state's cooperation in expiditing the matter.

Congressman Wharton further stated that J. Burch McMorran, superintendent of the State of New York Department of Public Works had approved the report when submitted and had requested that it be transmitted to Congress at the earliest practicable time.

Going to Engineers

The final report must now be submitted by the Corps of Engineers to the Secretary of the Army, who in turn transmits it to the Bureau of the Budget. The report should then be ready for Congress after committee approval.

Congressman Wharton has already asked the Chairman of the House Public Works Committee, Rpresentative Charles Buckley, to use his offices to expedite the authorization for fiscal 1963.

Following several floods during recent years, the Corps of Engineers has conducted surveys and held numerous conferences on the project with representatives from the area so that relief could be forthcoming to the flood stricken region.

Dutchess Youth Accident Victim, Sheriff Declares

A 16-year-old Dutchess County youth, whose sudden death Tuesday night in the home of a neighbor baffled authorities for two days, was the victim of an accident, according to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan.

Jean A. Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Chamberlain, LaGrangeville, died of asphyxiation due to a fractured larnyx.

County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding will conduct a formal inquest in July before rendering a final verdict.

Presume He Fell

Sheriff Quinlan reported Thursday that the Chamberlain youth was seen by a neighbor walking in Merry Hill Road near his home at about 9:45 p. m. Tuesday, and apparently the youth was all right at that time.

Chamberlain apparently entered a new house under construction in the Merry Hill area, Town of LaGrange, and fell striking his throat on a piece of lumber. Authorities said the youth evidently became frantic after he was injured and ran to the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gasparini seeking help.

Mrs. Gasparini was alone when the youth entered her home and called for a doctor. Mrs. Gasparini telephoned her husband who was a work at the Poughkeepsie IBM plant, and he called neighbors who hurried to the Gasparini home and saw Chamberlain dousing water on his head in the kitchen.

Can't Revive Him

Firemen from LaGrange administered oxygen but failed to save the youth's life. A physician pronounced him dead.

Evidence still being checked, authorities said, was a broken glass found in the youth's discarded jacket, picked up in a field nearby. Another broken glass was found at the foot of a stairway in the unfinished house where authorities say the youth was injured.

AMA Leader Is Staunch Medicare Foe

CHICAGO (AP)—The president-elect of the American Medical Association is Dr. Edward R. Annis, a Democrat who for a year has been the AMA's chief spokesman in its fight to defeat President Kennedy's medical care program for the aged.

The AMA's House of Delegates upset the normal pattern of its elections Thursday by naming Dr. Annis, 49, a Miami, Fla. surgeon, to become head of the AMA, which has a membership of nearly 200,000. He will take office next June, succeeding Dr. George M. Fister of Ogden, Utah.

Groomed for Post

It was the first time in 40 years that the AMA elected a man who has not been groomed for the post through service in the House of Delegates, AMA councils or committees. Dr. Annis' only position in the AMA is chairman of the national speakers bureau.

The House of Delegates elected Annis by a vote of 142 to 65 for Dr. Raymond McKeown of Coos Bay, Ore., an AMA trustee.

Dr. Annis, the father of eight children, has become nationally known through television appearances in speeches in opposition to the King-Anderson bill for medical care for the aged which is backed by the Kennedy administration. He made the rebuttal to President Kennedy's plea for a bill at a New York rally last month. He also has appeared in television debates with senators and with Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers.

Reaffirms Opposition

The AMA, at the end of its five-day annual convention Thursday, reaffirmed its active opposition to the King-Anderson bill which would finance medical care for the aged from Social Security taxes.

The House of Delegates adopted a report declaring "King-Anderson type of legislation" would "lead to deterioation in the quality of medical care," and reminding doctors of the AMA principles of ethics. It urged doctors to work for better care of the aged through the Kerr-Mills law in which the federal government cooperates with states in meeting medical expenses.

Dr. Fister, commenting on the action, said: "We will take care of patients in our own manner and all who need care will receive it. If the bill passes, it still leaves freedom for the physician to practice under, or for the patient to consult under, provisions of the law."

Candidates Are Interviewed for College Position

Two candidates for the office of president of Ulster Community College were interviewed Thursday night by members of the Board of Trustees, who plan to interview eight or 10 more applicants on July 4.

Harry Rigby Jr., temporary chairman of the board, said identity of the applicants will not be made public until the entire group of candidates are interviewed.

Chairman Rigby had agreed to serve in a temporary capacity on the Board only through June, and last night the trustees authorized him to appoint a nominating committee to select a slate of officers for the board and report at a meeting in July.

The chairman appointed Trustees McDonald DeWitt, Richard Whalen and Dr. Ina Sartorius members of the nominating committee.

THREE INJURED IN MISHAP — A car driven by Josephine Maccaline, 27, of 241 East Union Street, police said, "apparently went out of control" and struck a pole (right) on North Street near Delaware Avenue at about 3:30 p. m. Thursday. After hitting the pole on the left side of the road, the report said, it skidded into bushes. Treated at Kingston Hospital for injuries of the face were the driver and three riding with her: Helene Maccaline, 2, Paul Maccaline, 4, of the same address, and Lena Esposito, 49, of 49 Lindsley Avenue. Paul Maccaline, the report said, also suffered injuries of the forhead and the right eye, and remained at the hospital. Officer Vincent Eckert (left) with Patrolman Thomas McGrane investigated. Sanitarium Site In Saugerties Sold for $2,500

The former Bonesteel Sanitarium property on Main Street in the Village of Saugerties was sold today for $2,500 to Mrs. Ann Karashay of 21 Division Street.

The sale was consummated for Chester H. Bonesteel and his mother, Mrs. Melinda Bonesteel of 52 Elm Street, by Daniel N. Lamb of Rosenblum and Lamb, Saugerties.

On October 24, 1960, the unoccupied 24-room structure operated as a private sanitarium for nearly 20 years, was severely damaged by an early morning fire of undetermined origin. Bonesteel at that time said he estimated the loss at $40,000.

The three-story structure is on a site between Washington Avenue and Cedar Street with 91 foot fronting on Main Street and 316 feet deep. The property is reportedly adjacent to that of Mrs. Karashay, who owns 115 by 95 feet on Division Street.

The former Martin Cantine homestead was purchased by Bonesteel in 1937 from Mrs. Anna Potts Cantine.

Bonesteel and his mother operated a private sanitarium at the site for 13 years. It was operated as Jodat's Sanitarium for five-and-a-half years before closing in July 1956.

At the time of the fire, the blazing building endangered the Main Street School which is a few doors away.

Going to Ballet Tonight

Only 3½ hours have been set aside through the 48-hour visit for private conversations between the chief executives, suggesting that their problems — while acute as between neighbors — are not as momentous as among great powers on other sides of the oceans.

As a demonstration of the U.S.-Mexican relationship, the World Bank, foreign aid agency and private banks have extended Mexico almost $300 million in credits over the last week. And Thursday the United States agreed to lend Mexico $20 million under the Alliance for Progress program.

Soblen Expulsion

niece of former Senator Herbert H. Lehman, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Buttenweiser, a banker's wife, said she put up the money because of her interest in changing bail systems. She said present systems benefit either the rich or criminals able to raise bond.

Informed sources said Soblen made his trip to Israel on a Canadian passport issued to his brother, Bruce — or Beras — Sobel, who is dead. Arrested in a tourist hotel at noon Thursday, he was ordered held for investigation on a charge of illegal entry into Israel.

It was learned that Soblen financed his flight with a $1,600 investment he withdrew from the Circle Manhattan Medical Group, an association of doctors. He received the money in a check and cashed it at a New York bank Monday. He left that night by airliner.

Soblen is the brother of a previously imprisoned Soviet spy, Jack Soble, 57, who was the government's star witness against him. Jack Soble still has two years to serve of a seven-year term. The brothers, natives of Lithuania, went to the United States in 1941 and were naturalized in 1947.

Wharton Hears Jersey Favors Flood Program

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton (R-29th Dist. of N. Y.) today announced receipt of a telegram from Commissioner H. Mat Adams, Conservation and Economic Development, State of New Jersey, informing him that the department endorses recommendation for alleviation of flood damage contained in the interim report on the Rondout Creek and Wallkill River.

Congressman Wharton stated that under the law, inasmuch as the upper portion of the drainage area of the Wallkill River is located in New Jersey, it was necessary to submit the report for New Jersey's approval.

All Are Favorable

The Congressman pointed out that it was necessary to submit the interim report to the Department of Interior, Department of Commerce, Agriculture and Health Education and Welfare as well as the New York State Department of Public Works and the New Jersey agency for review and comment.

With the receipt of the New Jersey endorsement of the report, all agencies have now reported favorably. The Congressman had been greatly concerned relative to the delay in receiving the New Jersey approval and had urged that state's cooperation in expiditing the matter.

Congressman Wharton further stated that J. Burch McMorran, superintendent of the State of New York Department of Public Works had approved the report when submitted and had requested that it be transmitted to Congress at the earliest practicable time.

Going to Engineers

The final report must now be submitted by the Corps of Engineers to the Secretary of the Army, who in turn transmits it to the Bureau of the Budget. The report should then be ready for Congress after committee approval.

Congressman Wharton has already asked the Chairman of the House Public Works Committee, Rpresentative Charles Buckley, to use his offices to expedite the authorization for fiscal 1963.

Following several floods during recent years, the Corps of Engineers has conducted surveys and held numerous conferences on the project with representatives from the area so that relief could be forthcoming to the flood stricken region.

Man Is Acquitted Of Running Over Wife to Kill Her

CANTON, N. Y. (AP) — Kenneth Woods, 24, of Gouverneur was cleared of a charge that he killed his wife by running her down with his automobile.

Woods, a paper mill worker, was acquitted Thursday by a St. Lawrence County Court jury of a charge of first-degree manslaughter. The trial lasted nine days.

He was charged originally with second-degree murder after State Police accused him of driving his car deliberately into his wife, Ruth, 22, as she walked along a highway near Gouverneur April 15.

Troopers said Woods started home from a restaurant alone after an argument with his wife, then turned his car around to return for her.

Momentum of Recovery May Do It

Mid-year Signs Point to Good Times for Remainder of 1962

EDITOR'S NOTE — The stock market has had a shakeout—is business next in line? In this, last of two articles on the economy at midyear, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, discusses the outlook for the rest of 1962.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —In Wall Street they are talking openly about a recession as if it were a sure thing just around the corner. In Washington administration spokesmen are pooh-poohing any such visitation this year at least. But they are asking for new measures to forestall or cushion a business slump, just in case.

Yet most businessmen still are saying that even if the general economic picture is clouded the outlook for their own firms hasn't changed much nor has their planning.

And current statistics still show more plus than minus signs, although many regarded as forerunners of business changes are pointing down.

The reasons recession talk is common as the second half of 1962 starts:

1. The sharp stock market break startles and worries even those who don't own a share but regard the market as a crystal ball, dominated by traders with inside information.

2. Business in general improved in the first half of the year but at a disappointing rate and the slowdown could be the topping out of a brief recovery from the last slump.

3. The government-steel clash over prices makes many fear that business is in for a rough time from government and that profit prospects have dimmed.

4. The long postwar inflation has slowed to a crawl—is deflation next?

Business planning isn't being helped any by the fact this is an election year. Industry in general, and many individual firms, will be affected by what Congress will do about taxes, spending, international trade, and a multitude of existing or suggested controls. So will consumers. And so will many workers, employed or seeking jobs.

Many economists think that the momentum of the business recovery, even if not impressive, guarantees generally good times for the rest of this year.

The plus factors for the rest of this year: Construction at a new high and well ahead of last year; auto sales promising the industry's second best year; consumer spending at a peak—with any sizable effect from the stock market break yet to show; industrial production rising—although the usual summer letdown is just ahead; record personal savings on which consumers can draw.

The indicators pointing down: A drop in new orders for capital goods that industry buys; corporate profits better than a year ago but lower than in the final months of 1961; basic steel in a production slump; order backlogs in many industries declining; and the six-month drop in stock prices with sharp breaks in recent weeks.

Those are the signs cited by those who see a recession near at hand.

Those who think any serious slump is many months away see the rest of the year as a good one for business—because of the momentum of the recovery, because of the stimulants of government spending and the psychology of a promised tax cut.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. — I recently had luncheon sitting next to Mitch Miller who puts on one of the very best television programs now available. It usually goes on at 10:00 p. m. EST, Thursday nights. I had an opportunity to obtain some very interesting data on the tremendous growth of TV advertising. It surely illustrates why it is working havoc with magazines.

Cost of TV Advertising

The "Sing Along With Mitch" program takes about four or five days a week to prepare and rehearse. Each of the twenty or more men who sing receives $500 a week and the girls on the program are also well paid. Altogether, including commissions, the cost of producing these weekly shows exceeds $130,000. There are many experts engaged in the programing, lighting, and various other technical arrangements. Their names appear on the screen at the close of each show.

I was especially interested to know that the sponsors for one minute of allotted advertising time pay the equivalent of $20,000; this, for a total of six minutes, means a cost of $120,000. This, of course, includes the commissions which go to the advertising agencies. TV advertising has certainly grown to be "big business".

When we come to realize that this show which we see Thursday evenings is appearing simultaneously on 150 TV stations which have about 40 million viewers, it may be the cheapest form of advertising obtainable for any product that has universal distribution and can be bought in any city or town. The entire "TV industry" is still in an experimental stage; it is impossible to forecast its future. This is especially true when it is realized that only about one per cent of the TV receiving sets now carry color. Color will become almost universal when perfected.

When discussing with "Mitch" the above story, he said that the TV programs are really revolutionary. He stated: "If you will study any of the leading magazines, you will see that they do little to arouse the real interest and emotions of the reader. For instance, none of these magazines would think of printing the old songs and familiar poems which my men sing. Yet, it is these old songs which bring back to listeners their younger days and appeal to their hearts. I have thousands of leters telling how the songs which my men sing remind the writers of their fathers and mothers and their boyhood and girlhood days."

Another important factor is the speed with which news of special events or happenings may get to every city and village of the country—for instance, if some great fire, or airplane accident, or cyclone takes place. This was especially evident when Carpenter was orbiting the earth. While going 17,500 miles an hour and 125 miles in the air, he was radioing messages which appeared on TV within a few minutes after he sent them. Hence, in addition to the advantages mentioned above in connection with advertising, TV can publish news almost instantaneously. At the present time, the best foreign pictures must be shipped to this country on film by airplane; but a development with which the American Telephone & Telegraph Company is experimenting will revolutionize the transmission of foreign pictures. By throwing beams to satellites, we will have instantaneous pictures from all over the world on our own TV sets.

Employment Opportunities

While labor worries about losing jobs through automation, their leaders should not forget that TV vastly increases employment. This is also true of the rapidly growing electronic inventions. Furthermore, the TV industry will not be curtailed if Russia and the United States should come to an agreement on limiting nuclear warfare. Such would cause much unemployment around Cape Canaveral, Fla. and throughout California.

There is one thing, however, which young people must realize —namely, that the demand will be for trained men and women. This means that, to avoid unemployment, all ambitious young people should get a college education. If this is impossible, young people must at least get a good high school education and take additional evening courses. Parents should count upon this now.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 29, 1962

YOUNG-HEARTED, PERHAPS

It has been fully established that the United States Senate is about half-populated with members whose service goes back no farther than 1950. But how does this "august body" stack up on age basis?

Almost exactly half the membership is 60 years of age or older. A goodly one-tenth of the members are in fact 70 or more, and among that list, of course, is one octogenarian, the venerable Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona.

Yet these figures hardly make the Senate an old man's haven. For there are 33 senators between the ages of 50 and 60, another 15 who range from 40 to 50, and even three who are under 40. So, in fact, 51 members of this "greatest deliberative body in the world" fall below the 60-year mark.

It might well be argued that this is an amazingly good balance between the seasoning of age and the freshness and drive of relative youth. The word "relative" is important, however, for the Senate obviously is not a place well populated with mere boys.

The youngest senator is Maurice Murphy Jr., 34, of New Hampshire, an appointee currently filling the shoes of the late Sen. Styles Bridges. His colleagues in the under-40 club are Senators Frank Church of Idaho, 37, and John Tower of Texas, 36.

In recent years, the notion of the Senate as—by nature—the more conservative of the two congressional chambers seems to have been substantially altered. The House has been operating as a bar to the Senate's often somewhat more liberal versions of major legislative proposals, in both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations.

Some, scanning the age breakdown in the Senate, might be tempted to ascribe that body's leanings to heavy sprinkling of members under 60. Yet of those 51, probably a good 20 have to be tagged as definite conservatives. The list includes two of the most celebrated—Tower and Barry Goldwater.

On the other hand, roughly a dozen of over 60 have to be classed as liberals, at least in many major fields.

Furthermore, though age breakdowns of the unwieldy 437-member House are not available, all the indications are that the age average there is lower than the Senate's.

Clearly, there is no firm tie between advancing age and conservative legislature performance in the Senate. There are wild-eyed old liberals like Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, and green, young, conservatives like Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa.

Admittedly the picture is weighted somewhat by the fact that the younger Southern senators tend almost inevitably to be conservatives. Few liberals score in the 13 southern and border states.

Nevertheless, the Senate's age spectrum, when matched against its performance, suggests that a senator's outlook is not governed too materially by his age. Maybe the old notion should not be buried altogether, but it does deserve the skeptic's hard look.

VARIETY IN DEMOCRACY

Americans generally seem to hold the notion that democracy is not democracy unless it follows our own pattern. Vice President Johnson had something interesting to say on this subject the other day.

The vice president was discussing U.S. financial and social aid to Latin America. His main point was that we must not expect the recipients of aid to adopt the exact form of American democracy. "Each nation," he declared, "must fashion its own democracy from the traditions, the conditions and the demands of its people."

The good sense of this is inescapable. Upon our understanding of it may depend, to a considerable extent, the success of our Alliance for Progress. There is another aspect of the matter. This is that to impose our way of life and our form of government by granting and withholding aid is abhorrent to the very essence of that way of life.

We must not, then, willfully impose our ways on people who have other ideas. Yet at the same time we must be careful not to strengthen the anti-democratic forces in any country. The general truth operative here is that the situation in Latin America, as elsewhere, cannot be viewed in terms of black and white. We can neither insist on exactly our kind of democracy, nor can we let our aid fall into the hands of those who want no kind of democracy at all.

THE FIRST LADY

It was suggested to me that I read an article on Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of the President, which appeared in "Esquire." This I did. And as I read it, written by Norman Mailer, I thought that I could not have been as brutal toward Eleanor Roosevelt in the days of the "New Deal" as this Mailer is toward Jacqueline Kennedy, whose bread he ate. I do not know Norman Mailer and bear him neither malice nor goodwill.

I read the piece in "Esquire" and wondered why we subject our Presidents' wives to the kind of nonsense which we call human interest. It seems that, having received a letter from Mrs. Kennedy, Norman Mailer felt like writing to her to say:

". . . that while I was now engaged in certain difficulties of writing about the present, I hoped one day when work was done to do a biography of the Marquis de Sade and the 'odd strange' honor of the man."

He knew he was being wicked like a schoolboy who writes a dirty word, for he says further in this piece:

"Now sociology has few virtues, but one of them is sanity. In writing such a letter to Mrs. Kennedy I was losing my sociology. The Catholic wife of a Catholic candidate for president was not likely to find de Sade as familiar as a tea cozy. I received no reply. I had smashed the limits of such letter-writing. In politics a break in sociology is as clean a break in etiquette."

This article drools on and on in a similar vein of slight ridicule and colossal impudence, all done to give the impression of ridicule, as, for instance:

"Since Jackie Kennedy was not visible during this time, there was an opportunity to listen to her voice. It produced a small continuing shock. At first, before the picture emerged from the set, I thought I was turned to the wrong station, because the voice was a quiet parody of the sort of voice one hears on the radio late at night, dropped softly into the ear by girls who sell soft mattresses, depilatories, or creams to brighten the skin."

After all, a person's voice is what it is. I never heard Norman Mailer's voice but whatever the Lord gave him, baritone or tenor, soprano or bass, it is what it is and he can thank the good Lord that he does not suffer from cerebral palsy or some such thing.

My good friend, Westbrook Pegler, could take this Mailer apart more competently than I can, for Pegler is a surgeon who knows how to cut vanity out of the human heart and bring the conceited down to their proper level. At such a sport, I, alas, am an amateur. Nevertheless, I wonder why everyone with a typewriter, bought or borrowed, feels privileged to pillory a woman who happens, by the accidents of marriage, to be wife to a President or Governor, or even a Congressman. Marriage, being a sacrament, means that one takes the other for better or for worse, and surely the wife of a politician has a tough time.

She is cut off from privacy, which is a woman's dearest prerogative and she becomes a prey to everyone who needs to sell an article to a magazine or wants to cut a phrase. It is not customary in these days to respect human beings for what they are. Rather, we believe in an era when there is joy in seeing a fat man slip on a banana peel.

So, Mailer dares to write:

"Mrs. Kennedy moved like a wooden horse. A marvelous horse, perhaps even a live horse, its feet hobbled, its head unready to turn for fear of a flick from the crop. She had that intense wooden lack of rest, that lack of comprehension for each word offered up which one finds only in a few of those curious movie stars who are huge box office."

This is not good writing about the First Lady of the land who, in a period of intense national difficulty, serves the nation as well as she can. A little fair play is more mannerly than fanciful verbiage: The White House is a national santuary; those who are permitted within its portals have an obligation to maintain its dignity. Mailer's reference was to Mrs. Kennedy's taking the nation on a tour through the building.

Black Teeth, Sore Mouth May Be Due to Dentifrice

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—For several weeks, I have been using a new tooth paste intended for relief of sensitive teeth. About a week ago my teeth began turning black and my mouth became roughened and sore. Could this be due to the new tooth paste? Or am I developing a vitamin deficiency?

A—If the new dentifrice contains sodium perborate, your complaints may be due to the presence of this ingredient.

Q—I recently had a six-hour glucose tolerance test. From a fasting level of 105 mg., the content of my blood rose to 155 in an hour and then fell to 75 after five hours. Could I have hypoglycemia or hypoinsulinism because the fall is so great? I was told it should only be 30 mg. As I have an anxiety neurosis with palpitations, dizziness and easy fatigue, I was wondering if I might improve if I went on a high protein diet and cut out sweets.

A—These findings are within normal limits. May I suggest that medically you are out beyond your depths. Why don't you concentrate on efforts to control your anxieties and let your doctor handle technical matters?

Q—I am engaged to a man who became a drug addict when he was in his teens and got into bad company. He is just finishing a cure and wants to be married as soon as he is discharged from the hospital. He is sure that if he has a home and a wife, he will be O.K. I want to help him because I love him very much. But my parents say I'm just "asking for trouble." What do you think?

A—Rather than presume to advise you, let me give you the facts as I know them. In a follow-up study of 1,912 addicts living in New York City, who had been cared for at the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital in Lexington, Ky., over 90 per cent became re-addicted, usually within six months after leaving the hospital. In the view of a prominent authority:

"Hospital treatment can start a patient on the way to recovery but it cannot provide a life-long immunity that protects the patient from relapse. Hospital treatment can initiate rehabilitation but it must be completed after the patient returns to the community." Certainly love, a wife and a home ought to be important factors in effecting a complete rehabilitation. Whether they will be sufficient to overcome the factors that contribute to re-addiction, I would not presume to predict.

"---And We Used to Be Kissing Cousins!"

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Communist functionaries in the United States operate as openly as though their organization was an American political opposition, thumbing its nose at government.

In spite of all the laws passed by Congress, Supreme Court decisions, enforcement actions by the attorney general and the Subversive Activities Control Board, the Commies are free to come and go as they please, meet where they please, say and do what they please.

GUS HALL, GENERAL SECRETARY of the Communist party of the United States, boasted the other day that he had talked to 50,000 American college students in the last six months. Subject of his talk has been repeal of the McCarran Act, officially titled The Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950.

This is not to be confused with the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act. The Commies are against that too, because it provides for exclusion and deportation of all Communist aliens. But the more immediate targets of the Reds in this country is the McCarran Act of 1950, which is supposed to require the Communist party and its members to register.

Hall's pitch to curious college student political clubs is to liken Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln, champions of civil liberties. Then he makes his attack on the McCarran Act and circulates petitions for its repeal because, he alleges, it suppresses civil liberties.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE and private patriotic organizations try to schedule speakers to every campus after Communist speakers to undo whatever damage they do, but don't get all.

The Supreme Court in June 1961 handed down its decision upholding constitutionality of the McCarran Act and ordered the party to register as a Communist action group.

But Gus Hall now declares openly that the Supreme Court decided only one little detail and that it is nothing for the party to worry about. "The tide has turned," he proclaims.

These Hall statements were made at a New York rally attended by 2,500 in Manhattan Center on June 7. The meeting got practically no American press coverage. But "National Guardian," which claims to be "The Progressive Newsweekly," carries a full report in its June 18 issue.

THE RALLY WAS HELD to protest Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's petition asking the Subversive Activities Control Board to require 10 members of the Communist party's national committee to register.

A collection was taken for their defense fund. Amount collected was not disclosed. Chairman of the proceedings was Miriam Friedlander, one of the 10 and secretary of the Citizens Committee for Constitutional Liberties, rally sponsor.

Also on the platform was Ben Davis, Communist party national secretary who, with Gus Hall, is under indictment for failure to register.

Both are now subject to $11,000 fines and 11 years imprisonment for failure to register, if convicted.

Speakers at the rally included Moe Fishman of Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, The Rev. William Howard Melish of National Council for American-Soviet Friendship and Prof. Louise Pettibone Smith of American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born.

All three organizations have been ordered to register by SACB, but they have appealed these orders to the federal courts.

Another speaker was John Abt, top Communist defense attorney for many years. He declared that a United States Court of Appeals reversal of a contempt conviction of Philip Bart—who had refused to tell a grand jury about Communist activities—presaged additional party victories.

Others who spoke included General Manager Russ Nixon of the National Guardian, and New York Post Columnist Murray Kempton. The latter declared that "as long as the FBI goes to funerals and takes down the names of mourners, all Americans belong to meetings like this."

The reference is to a Communist charge that the names of those attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Claude Lightfoot, wife of a Chicago Communist party leader, were officially recorded. The charge is denied as another Communist party propaganda trick to list itself as martyred underdog.

High Court Ruling Recalls The Girard Case of 1844

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Rarely in the history of the Supreme Court of the United States has it had occasion to define to what extent the teaching of morality or the mere exposition of religious doctrine in the classroom becomes a violation of the Constitution's edict that there shall be no religious "establishment" imposed by law.

The court, of course, has had to deal frequently in the past with a variety of collateral issues. It ruled invalid in 1925 an Oregon State law which compelled all children to attend public schools. The Court said this was unconstitutional because it interfered with the right to the free exercise of religion by those who wished to go to parochial schools. Then Illinois passed a law which provided that religious instruction could be given on the premises of public schools by visiting clergymen and that those students whose parents objected could be excused from attendance. The Court in 1948 said the mere use of the school building for this purpose was unconstitutional.

Subsequently New York State passed a law permitting those students who desired to do so to leave the building during a certain school hour each week to go to their respective churches for instruction. This was called "released time" and was upheld in 1952 by the Supreme Court of the United States. It is the "law of the land" today. It was a permissive act involving the consent of the state government.

But not one of these decisions dealt specifically with what really constitutes religious training or prayer or discussion of religious principles in the classroom. The closest to this phase was a famous decision handed down in 1844 known as the Girard College case. It has had sequels in cases before the courts of Pennsylvania. The Supreme Court of the United States, moreover, let stand a state ruling on one aspect of the Girard case even as recently as 1958.

Facts Not the Same

While the Girard case of more than a century ago dealt with an altogether different set of facts than those on which the Supreme Court ruled this week in relation to New York State's prescription of a formal prayer in public schools, it is interesting to note the overall friendliness which the highest court in the land once exhibited toward classroom teaching of morality and the proper conduct of the individual.

It happened that Stephen Girard left a big sum of money to found a college to be administered by the city government in Philadelphia. He provided in his will that no minister or ecclesiastic representing any sect should be allowed to become a member of the faculty. He wrote as follows:

"I do not mean to cast any reflection upon any sect or person whatsoever. But as there is such a multitude of sects and such a diversity of opinion amongst them, I desire to keep the tender minds of the orphans, who are to derive advantage from this bequest, free from the excitement which clashing doctrines and sectarian controversy are so apt to produce."

The will was challenged in court on the ground that it violated a law of Pennsylvania which said the Christian religion was a part fo the common law of that state and Mr. Girard's instructions in his bequest were really an attack on the Christian religion and a violation of state law.

The Supreme Court of the United States, in unanimously upholding the will, wrote an opinion which in effect said the teaching of the principles of morality by laymen instructors was equivalent to the teaching of Christianity's philosophy and hence, instead of violating state law, it was really conforming to the idea that Christian principles were a part of the common law of the State of Pennsylvania.

For Mr. Girard had provided "that all the instructors and teachers in the college shall take pains to instill into the minds of the scholars the purest principles of morality, so that on their entrance into active life may from inclination and habit evince benetvolence towards their fellow-cretures, and a love of truth, sobriety, and inevince benevolence towards their fellow-creatures, and a love of truth, sobriety, and industry, adopting at the same time such religious tenets as their matured reason may enable them to prefer."

The Supreme Court, after quoting that passage from the will then said in its formal opinion:

"Now, it may well be asked, what is there in all this, which is positively enjoined, inconsistent with the spirit or truths of Christianity? Are not these truths all taught by Christianity, although it teaches much more? Where can the purest principles of morality be learned so clearly or so perfectly as from the New Testament? Where are benevolence, the love of truth, sobriety, and industry, so powerfully and irresistibly inculcated as in the sacred volume? The testator has not said how these great principles are to be taught, or by whom, except it be by laymen, nor what books are to be used to explain or enforce them. All that we can gather from his language is, that he desired to exclude sectarians and sectarianism from the college, leaving the instructors and officers free to teach the purest morality, the love of truth, sobriety, and industry, by all appropriate means; and of course including the best, the surest, and the most impressive."

This decision will be read and re-read today in view of the 6-1 opinion handed down by the Supreme Court this week. For while the ruling just made bars "official prayer" and any state requirement that it shall be recited as a daily exercise, the principles laid down in the Girard case are valid today. Morality can be discussed and taught in the public schools without violating the Constitution of the United States.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The shocking brutality of the Department of Agriculture in railroading Miss Mary Jones, a law-abiding employe, has been aggravated by the defiance of Orville Freeman, the secretary of this mysterious maze. Miss Jones was physically snatched by two fellow employes and detained 12 days in the surroundings of a madhouse without a warrant or even a policeman's complaint. In a scuffle to free herself she lost a shoe, seized it up and hit a male employe on the head. If she had had a pistol and had blown his brains out she would have been justified on the ground of self-defense, but unfortunately she was not armed.

This snatch occurred in Freeman's own official premises and he was aware of the incident within an hour. But when Congressman Robert Dole, of Kansas, dared to suggest that Freeman take appropriate action, this Minneapolis politician refused to comment on the ground that so to discuss the lady's experience would be to invade her privacy. The abduction was a Federal case committed on Federal property. It seems to have complied with Freeman's concept of due regard for the privacy of a lady of 51 with a superior record covering years of employment who has not yet been charged with any overt conduct. Curbstone law is fallible, but the Lindbergh Law provides that kidnapping may be punished by imprisonment for life in the Federal system, even unto Alcatraz, at the Attorney General's discretion.

The reason for this violence and the ensuing indecency, including at least one day in an isolation cell stripped of her clothing, is that Miss Jones was reportedly trying to take possession of documents bearing on dealings in favor of Billie Sol Estes, an important henchman of one Texas Senator and at least one Texas Congressman. She supposedly wanted to deliver them to her boss, N. Battle Hales, to prove charges which he had made and Freeman had described as lies.

There has been much corruption in the Department and Freeman is the one with the strongest official motive to suppress embarrassing information. There have been diligent editorial efforts to keep political names out of the Billie Sol mess notwithstanding circumstances which justify inquiry. Never to my knowledge has so much of the press been so reticent.

Mr. Freeman, obedient to his background, could not forbear to sneer at Congressman Dole's solicitude for Miss Jones. She is a citizen of North Carolina, on the New Frontier, and Dole is a Kansas Republican. So Freeman suggested that political interest, not chivalry or a decent respect for the laws against physical assault on females even by a Government Bureau, inspired Mr. Dole's inquiry. But already Senator John Williams, of Delaware, another Republican, to be sure, had made even more vehement demands for amends to Miss Jones and punishment of whosoever violated any law. Mr. Freeman thinks this is fastidious.

This leads into the jungle of "mental health" laws, a Viennese import, which actually permit any two persons or an ordinary cop or a scheming spouse to cause the commitment of an unwary individual and the confiscation or depletion of the victim's estate.

Miss Jones still suffers from a gratuitous implication that she is "emotionally disturbed" because she tried to safeguard the evidence of dirty work in the Department of Agriculture.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 29, 1962

YOUNG-HEARTED, PERHAPS

It has been fully established that the United States Senate is about half-populated with members whose service goes back no farther than 1950. But how does this "august body" stack up on age basis?

Almost exactly half the membership is 60 years of age or older. A goodly one-tenth of the members are in fact 70 or more, and among that list, of course, is one octogenarian, the venerable Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona.

Yet these figures hardly make the Senate an old man's haven. For there are 33 senators between the ages of 50 and 60, another 15 who range from 40 to 50, and even three who are under 40. So, in fact, 51 members of this "greatest deliberative body in the world" fall below the 60-year mark.

It might well be argued that this is an amazingly good balance between the seasoning of age and the freshness and drive of relative youth. The word "relative" is important, however, for the Senate obviously is not a place well populated with mere boys.

The youngest senator is Maurice Murphy Jr., 34, of New Hampshire, an appointee currently filling the shoes of the late Sen. Styles Bridges. His colleagues in the under-40 club are Senators Frank Church of Idaho, 37, and John Tower of Texas, 36.

In recent years, the notion of the Senate as—by nature—the more conservative of the two congressional chambers seems to have been substantially altered. The House has been operating as a bar to the Senate's often somewhat more liberal versions of major legislative proposals, in both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations.

Some, scanning the age breakdown in the Senate, might be tempted to ascribe that body's leanings to heavy sprinkling of members under 60. Yet of those 51, probably a good 20 have to be tagged as definite conservatives. The list includes two of the most celebrated—Tower and Barry Goldwater.

On the other hand, roughly a dozen of over 60 have to be classed as liberals, at least in many major fields.

Furthermore, though age breakdowns of the unwieldy 437-member House are not available, all the indications are that the age average there is lower than the Senate's.

Clearly, there is no firm tie between advancing age and conservative legislature performance in the Senate. There are wild-eyed old liberals like Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, and green, young, conservatives like Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa.

Admittedly the picture is weighted somewhat by the fact that the younger Southern senators tend almost inevitably to be conservatives. Few liberals score in the 13 southern and border states.

Nevertheless, the Senate's age spectrum, when matched against its performance, suggests that a senator's outlook is not governed too materially by his age. Maybe the old notion should not be buried altogether, but it does deserve the skeptic's hard look.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Communist functionaries in the United States operate as openly as though their organization was an American political opposition, thumbing its nose at government.

In spite of all the laws passed by Congress, Supreme Court decisions, enforcement actions by the attorney general and the Subversive Activities Control Board, the Commies are free to come and go as they please, meet where they please, say and do what they please.

GUS HALL, GENERAL SECRETARY of the Communist party of the United States, boasted the other day that he had talked to 50,000 American college students in the last six months. Subject of his talk has been repeal of the McCarran Act, officially titled The Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950.

This is not to be confused with the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act. The Commies are against that too, because it provides for exclusion and deportation of all Communist aliens. But the more immediate targets of the Reds in this country is the McCarran Act of 1950, which is supposed to require the Communist party and its members to register.

Hall's pitch to curious college student political clubs is to liken Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln, champions of civil liberties. Then he makes his attack on the McCarran Act and circulates petitions for its repeal because, he alleges, it suppresses civil liberties.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE and private patriotic organizations try to schedule speakers to every campus after Communist speakers to undo whatever damage they do, but don't get all.

The Supreme Court in June 1961 handed down its decision upholding constitutionality of the McCarran Act and ordered the party to register as a Communist action group.

But Gus Hall now declares openly that the Supreme Court decided only one little detail and that it is nothing for the party to worry about. "The tide has turned," he proclaims.

These Hall statements were made at a New York rally attended by 2,500 in Manhattan Center on June 7. The meeting got practically no American press coverage. But "National Guardian," which claims to be "The Progressive Newsweekly," carries a full report in its June 18 issue.

THE RALLY WAS HELD to protest Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's petition asking the Subversive Activities Control Board to require 10 members of the Communist party's national committee to register.

A collection was taken for their defense fund. Amount collected was not disclosed. Chairman of the proceedings was Miriam Friedlander, one of the 10 and secretary of the Citizens Committee for Constitutional Liberties, rally sponsor.

Also on the platform was Ben Davis, Communist party national secretary who, with Gus Hall, is under indictment for failure to register.

Both are now subject to $11,000 fines and 11 years imprisonment for failure to register, if convicted.

Speakers at the rally included Moe Fishman of Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, The Rev. William Howard Melish of National Council for American-Soviet Friendship and Prof. Louise Pettibone Smith of American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born.

All three organizations have been ordered to register by SACB, but they have appealed these orders to the federal courts.

Another speaker was John Abt, top Communist defense attorney for many years. He declared that a United States Court of Appeals reversal of a contempt conviction of Philip Bart—who had refused to tell a grand jury about Communist activities—presaged additional party victories.

Others who spoke included General Manager Russ Nixon of the National Guardian, and New York Post Columnist Murray Kempton. The latter declared that "as long as the FBI goes to funerals and takes down the names of mourners, all Americans belong to meetings like this."

The reference is to a Communist charge that the names of those attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Claude Lightfoot, wife of a Chicago Communist party leader, were officially recorded. The charge is denied as another Communist party propaganda trick to list itself as martyred underdog.

High Court Ruling Recalls The Girard Case of 1844

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Rarely in the history of the Supreme Court of the United States has it had occasion to define to what extent the teaching of morality or the mere exposition of religious doctrine in the classroom becomes a violation of the Constitution's edict that there shall be no religious "establishment" imposed by law.

The court, of course, has had to deal frequently in the past with a variety of collateral issues. It ruled invalid in 1925 an Oregon State law which compelled all children to attend public schools. The Court said this was unconstitutional because it interfered with the right to the free exercise of religion by those who wished to go to parochial schools. Then Illinois passed a law which provided that religious instruction could be given on the premises of public schools by visiting clergymen and that those students whose parents objected could be excused from attendance. The Court in 1948 said the mere use of the school building for this purpose was unconstitutional.

Subsequently New York State passed a law permitting those students who desired to do so to leave the building during a certain school hour each week to go to their respective churches for instruction. This was called "released time" and was upheld in 1952 by the Supreme Court of the United States. It is the "law of the land" today. It was a permissive act involving the consent of the state government.

But not one of these decisions dealt specifically with what really constitutes religious training or prayer or discussion of religious principles in the classroom. The closest to this phase was a famous decision handed down in 1844 known as the Girard College case. It has had sequels in cases before the courts of Pennsylvania. The Supreme Court of the United States, moreover, let stand a state ruling on one aspect of the Girard case even as recently as 1958.

Facts Not the Same

While the Girard case of more than a century ago dealt with an altogether different set of facts than those on which the Supreme Court ruled this week in relation to New York State's prescription of a formal prayer in public schools, it is interesting to note the overall friendliness which the highest court in the land once exhibited toward classroom teaching of morality and the proper conduct of the individual.

It happened that Stephen Girard left a big sum of money to found a college to be administered by the city government in Philadelphia. He provided in his will that no minister or ecclesiastic representing any sect should be allowed to become a member of the faculty. He wrote as follows:

"I do not mean to cast any reflection upon any sect or person whatsoever. But as there is such a multitude of sects and such a diversity of opinion amongst them, I desire to keep the tender minds of the orphans, who are to derive advantage from this bequest, free from the excitement which clashing doctrines and sectarian controversy are so apt to produce."

The will was challenged in court on the ground that it violated a law of Pennsylvania which said the Christian religion was a part fo the common law of that state and Mr. Girard's instructions in his bequest were really an attack on the Christian religion and a violation of state law.

The Supreme Court of the United States, in unanimously upholding the will, wrote an opinion which in effect said the teaching of the principles of morality by laymen instructors was equivalent to the teaching of Christianity's philosophy and hence, instead of violating state law, it was really conforming to the idea that Christian principles were a part of the common law of the State of Pennsylvania.

For Mr. Girard had provided "that all the instructors and teachers in the college shall take pains to instill into the minds of the scholars the purest principles of morality, so that on their entrance into active life may from inclination and habit evince benetvolence towards their fellow-cretures, and a love of truth, sobriety, and inevince benevolence towards their fellow-creatures, and a love of truth, sobriety, and industry, adopting at the same time such religious tenets as their matured reason may enable them to prefer."

The Supreme Court, after quoting that passage from the will then said in its formal opinion:

"Now, it may well be asked, what is there in all this, which is positively enjoined, inconsistent with the spirit or truths of Christianity? Are not these truths all taught by Christianity, although it teaches much more? Where can the purest principles of morality be learned so clearly or so perfectly as from the New Testament? Where are benevolence, the love of truth, sobriety, and industry, so powerfully and irresistibly inculcated as in the sacred volume? The testator has not said how these great principles are to be taught, or by whom, except it be by laymen, nor what books are to be used to explain or enforce them. All that we can gather from his language is, that he desired to exclude sectarians and sectarianism from the college, leaving the instructors and officers free to teach the purest morality, the love of truth, sobriety, and industry, by all appropriate means; and of course including the best, the surest, and the most impressive."

This decision will be read and re-read today in view of the 6-1 opinion handed down by the Supreme Court this week. For while the ruling just made bars "official prayer" and any state requirement that it shall be recited as a daily exercise, the principles laid down in the Girard case are valid today. Morality can be discussed and taught in the public schools without violating the Constitution of the United States.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The shocking brutality of the Department of Agriculture in railroading Miss Mary Jones, a law-abiding employe, has been aggravated by the defiance of Orville Freeman, the secretary of this mysterious maze. Miss Jones was physically snatched by two fellow employes and detained 12 days in the surroundings of a madhouse without a warrant or even a policeman's complaint. In a scuffle to free herself she lost a shoe, seized it up and hit a male employe on the head. If she had had a pistol and had blown his brains out she would have been justified on the ground of self-defense, but unfortunately she was not armed.

This snatch occurred in Freeman's own official premises and he was aware of the incident within an hour. But when Congressman Robert Dole, of Kansas, dared to suggest that Freeman take appropriate action, this Minneapolis politician refused to comment on the ground that so to discuss the lady's experience would be to invade her privacy. The abduction was a Federal case committed on Federal property. It seems to have complied with Freeman's concept of due regard for the privacy of a lady of 51 with a superior record covering years of employment who has not yet been charged with any overt conduct. Curbstone law is fallible, but the Lindbergh Law provides that kidnapping may be punished by imprisonment for life in the Federal system, even unto Alcatraz, at the Attorney General's discretion.

The reason for this violence and the ensuing indeceney, including at least one day in an isolation cell stripped of her clothing, is that Miss Jones was reportedly trying to take possession of documents bearing on dealings in favor of Billie Sol Estes, an important henchman of one Texas Senator and at least one Texas Congressman. She supposedly wanted to deliver them to her boss, N. Battle Hales, to prove charges which he had made and Freeman had described as lies.

There has been much corruption in the Department and Freeman is the one with the strongest official motive to suppress embarrassing information. There have been diligent editorial efforts to keep political names out of the Billie Sol mess notwithstanding circumstances which justify inquiry. Never to my knowledge has so much of the press been so reticent.

Mr. Freeman, obedient to his background, could not forbear to sneer at Congressman Dole's solicitude for Miss Jones. She is a citizen of North Carolina, on the New Frontier, and Dole is a Kansas Republican. So Freeman suggested that political interest, not chivalry or a decent respect for the laws against physical assault on females even by a Government Bureau, inspired Mr. Dole's inquiry. But already Senator John Williams, of Delaware, another Republican, to be sure, had made even more vehement demands for amends to Miss Jones and punishment of whosoever violated any law. Mr. Freeman thinks this is fastidious.

This leads into the jungle of "mental health" laws, a Viennese import, which actually permit any two persons or an ordinary cop or a scheming spouse to cause the commitment of an unwary individual and the confiscation or depletion of the victim's estate.

Miss Jones still suffers from a gratuitous implication that she is "emotionally disturbed" because she tried to safeguard the evidence of dirty work in the Department of Agriculture.

Employment Up In State During Last May Month

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Employment in New York State during May rose to 7,385,000, an increase of 75,000 over the corresponding month last year, the State Labor Department says.

The department reported Thursday that the total number of employed persons last month was 65,000 more than in April.

The state's record employment figure is more than 7.4 million.

Unemployment dwindled to 385,000 in May, the department reported. It represented a drop of 105,000 from the preceding month and was 490,000 less than in the same month of 1961.

Republic Closing Its Buffalo Plant a Week

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—In an apparent reflection of the abnormally low demand for steel throughout the industry, Republic Steel Corp. announced Thursday that the entire steel-making operation at its plant here will be shut down for a week, beginning Monday.

An estimated 2,000 of the plant's 2,700 employes will be laid off during the suspension. Only the company's iron-making furnace will operate during the shutdown, Republic said.

Republic currently has in use its steel milling operation and three of its nine open hearth furnaces.

Re-Use Process At Watervliet Saves $165,000

The Commanding Officer of Watervliet Arsenal has been credited with a suggestion for the profitable re-use of metals in worn out gun tubes that will save $165,000 in purchase and manufacturing costs.

Col. Keith T. O'Keefe proposed that, instead of selling such tubes as scrap, they be made available for re-melting to civilian and military forging manufacturers who could use the high quality metal alloys in the tubes in fabrication of modern ordnance materiel.

The suggestion, as adapted by the arsenal's cost-cutting value analysis unit, has already re-routed 2,800 75mm tubes from scrap heaps to casting furnaces where they'll be fashioned into breech rings for the Army's newest tank guns and field artillery.

The plan was put into effect by Arsenal value analyst Harold R. Cutler, Hoosick Falls, at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., where obsolete tubes were being "de-militarized"—that is, being cut into five-foot lengths for disposal as scrap. Cutler's investigation revealed the tubes contained a high percentage of the top-quality nickel alloy required for breech rings currently being forged at Watertown Arsenal, Watertown, Mass., which will be joined with gun tubes now being made at Watervliet.

Based on this information Cutler was able to initiate action that sent the scrap to the disposal yard. To date, 14 freight cars—1050 tubes—have been shipped from Aberdeen to Watertown. Total savings for all 2800 tubes wil lamount to $165,000.

Next step will be the investigation of the feasibility of returning similar worn out tubes from overseas stations for possible re-melt and re-use in new material.

Candidates from each of the school districts — 27 a year for the next four years — will be paid teachers' salaries while in training, William L. Irvine of Cornell, program director, said.

School districts that will participate include:

Buffalo — Amherst, Kenmore, Clarence, North Tonawanda, Hamburg and Lockport.

Cornell — Auburn, Binghamton, Elmira, Hornell, Maine-Endwell, Vernon - Verona-Sherrill, Corning and Johnson City.

Employment Up In State During Last May Month

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Employment in New York State during May rose to 7,385,000, an increase of 75,000 over the corresponding month last year, the State Labor Department says.

The department reported Thursday that the total number of employed persons last month was 65,000 more than in April.

The state's record employment figure is more than 7.4 million.

Unemployment dwindled to 385,000 in May, the department reported. It represented a drop of 105,000 from the preceding month and was 490,000 less than in the same month of 1961.

Republic Closing Its Buffalo Plant a Week

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—In an apparent reflection of the abnormally low demand for steel throughout the industry, Republic Steel Corp. announced Thursday that the entire steel-making operation at its plant here will be shut down for a week, beginning Monday.

An estimated 2,000 of the plant's 2,700 employes will be laid off during the suspension. Only the company's iron-making furnace will operate during the shutdown, Republic said.

Republic currently has in use its steel milling operation and three of its nine open hearth furnaces.

Re-Use Process At Watervliet Saves $165,000

The Commanding Officer of Watervliet Arsenal has been credited with a suggestion for the profitable re-use of metals in worn out gun tubes that will save $165,000 in purchase and manufacturing costs.

Col. Keith T. O'Keefe proposed that, instead of selling such tubes as scrap, they be made available for re-melting to civilian and military forging manufacturers who could use the high quality metal alloys in the tubes in fabrication of modern ordnance materiel.

The suggestion, as adapted by the arsenal's cost-cutting value analysis unit, has already re-routed 2,800 75mm tubes from scrap heaps to casting furnaces where they'll be fashioned into breech rings for the Army's newest tank guns and field artillery.

The plan was put into effect by Arsenal value analyst Harold R. Cutler, Hoosick Falls, at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., where obsolete tubes were being "de-militarized"—that is, being cut into five-foot lengths for disposal as scrap. Cutler's investigation revealed the tubes contained a high percentage of the top-quality nickel alloy required for breech rings currently being forged at Watertown Arsenal, Watertown, Mass., which will be joined with gun tubes now being made at Watervliet.

Based on this information Cutler was able to initiate action that sent the scrap to the disposal yard. To date, 14 freight cars—1050 tubes—have been shipped from Aberdeen to Watertown. Total savings for all 2800 tubes wil lamount to $165,000.

Next step will be the investigation of the feasibility of returning similar worn out tubes from overseas stations for possible re-melt and re-use in new material.

Pay-TV Starts Biggest Test in Hartford Area

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) —Pay television's biggest test so far will be seen tonight in about 200 home in Hartford and within a 15-mile radius.

RKO Phonevision will broadcast the program over WHCT (Channel 18) of Hartford.

RKO Phonevision and the Zenith Radio Corp. are partners in the three-year-old experiment—a $10 million venture in competition with movie theaters and possibly in competition with conventional broadcasters.

Advertising agencies, which support much of free television, are vitally involved in whether the pay television without commercials clicks with the public.

RKO Phonevision has told the Federal Communications Commission, which permitted its venture, that paid television would not compete with free television because it would not be airing the same shows.

Tonight's program has an introduction featuring remarks by Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, and several Connecticut political figures.

Then will come "Sunrise at Campobello," a movie that already has played in Hartford, and "Midsummer Night's Dream" a foreign-made film version of Shakespeare's comedy played by puppets, which has not been shown in Hartford movie houses or on television.

The set owner's tab for the show is $1, on top of preliminary costs. A subscriber pays $10 for installation of an electric decoder to get the program from WHCT, an ultra-high frequency station. A subscriber also will have to pay a rental charge of 75 cents a week for the decoder which is a small box on top of the television set that makes sense out of the station's signals that are scrambled so that non-payers can't watch the program for free. The weekly fee, which includes all servicing, will not be charged until October,

Tonight's largest over-the-air test of pay-television comes after several trials of closed-circuit paid television. Closed-circuit television requires extensive wiring, and is much more costly than the over-the-air system being inaugurated here.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels paced a renewed stock market rally early this afternoon after an initial advance faltered temporarily on profit-taking. Trading was heavy.

At noon The Associated Press average which was up 1.00 at 208.60, with industrials up 1.20, rails up .50, and utilities up .70.

Wall Street was more confident following Thursday's gains which were the greatest since the May 29 upsurge, following "Black Monday."

Most market experts regarded it as a long-overdue technical rally.

A sudden spurt of buying in steels boosted these issues around midsession. Gains of fractions to a point or more were scattered through the list of key stocks.

Army Gives Farewell To Secretary Stahr

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a 19-gun salute and four ruffles and flourishes by the Army band, the Army bade an official farewell to Secretary Elvis J. Stahr.

The ceremony Thursday was at Ft. Myer, Va., where a battle group of the 3rd Infantry paraded in review. On hand were Stahr's successor, Cyrus Vance, Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Gen. George Decker, Army chief of staff.

Stahr is to become president of Indiana University. His resignation is effective Saturday.

Regents Upholds Ban on Prayers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court decision banning official prayers in public schools is "now the law of the land and it will be so recognized by all school authorities in the state," the Board of Regents declared today.

The board adopted unanimously a policy statement that appeared to be a directive to local school officials to halt the practice of having children recite prayers to open the school day.

Some to Defy Ban

Some local officials had said they would defy the Supreme Court ban and continue the prayers.

The Regents called on schools to "stress the development of moral values through all the activities and lessons of the school day and, particularly, by the good example of the staff members."

The action of the board, governing body of all education in the state, followed by five days the decision in which the nation's highest court said that the practice of reciting a prayer to open the class day in public schools in New York State violated the U.S. Constitution.

The court, in a 6-1 decision, cited the First Amendment, which requires separation of church and state.

The prayer in question was drafted by the Regents 11 years ago as a non-sectarian one. The board suggested that public school teachers lead their classes at the beginning of each day in the prayer:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee and we beg Thy blessing upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Successful Fight

A group of parents in New Hyde Park, L.I., challenged the use of the prayer. They rejected the defense that children were not compelled to recite it.

The parents said a child would be regarded as a "pariah" by classmates if he did not participate in a daily routine led by a teacher, who is a symbol of authority.

New York State courts upheld the prayer.

Democrats Hear From Chairman, Ex-State Leader

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—William H. McKeon, the state Democratic chairman, is urging his party to choose members of its state executive committee in elections on the local level to "further Democratize" the party.

McKeon told a newsman Thursday that in the past 'Mike picked them all." He was referring to Michael Prendergast, whom McKeon succeeded as state chairman.

In Mechanicville, meanwhile, Prendergast said in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Mechanicville Democratic City Committee that Democrats should stop "fencing with the Rockefeller Republican opposition" and meet 'the need for leadership headon."

Prendergast View

"If we do not, then the Democratic Party is hell bent to fighting a losing campaign this fall..." Prendergast said.

McKeon was named chairman after Prendergast split with the party's reform faction that backed Robert F. Wagner for mayor of New York City last fall. When Wagner won re-election, he became actual head of the party in the state and the ouster of Prendergast followed.

McKeon said that under his plan, which would need the approval of the party's state executive committee, two committee members would be elected from each of the state's judicial districts.

Work or Get Out

"It will not be a paper committee," McKeon said.

He said in a speech at a fund-raising dinner of the Onondaga County Democratic Committee that candidates would have to "get out and work — or get out."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, one of the four announced candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said in a telegram from Washington that he "will stay in the fight to become our party's candidate until the last delegate is counted" at the state convention here in September.

Stratton also has the endorsement of county chairmen in the 35th Congressional District for the district's congressional nomination.

The chairman several times has suggested that Stratton "give full attention" to his campaign for election to Congress.

Two Others Talk

Two other candidates for the gubernatorial nomination addressed the Onondaga County group.

Howard J. Samuels, a Canandaigua manufacturer, called for "well-organized cost-reduction programs to bring greater efficiency to government without cutting back on vital services" in the state.

Frank D. O'Connor, Queens County district attorney, said that whoever is elected governor "will be faced with a (budget) deficit" because of what he termed gimmicks of the Rockefeller administration to balance the 1962-63 budget.

Philadelphia Man Heads Garden Club

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Robert L. Waln of Philadelphia, Pa., is the new president of the Men's Garden Club of America.

He was elected Thursday to succeed Bryant Horne of Jackson, Miss.

Others elected at the conclusion of the club's four-day 27th annual convention were:

William H. Hull of Minneapolis, Minn., first vice president; Philip A. Conrath of St. Louis, Mo., second vice president; L.E. Moyer of Amarillo, Tex., third vice president; Stanley E. Munro of Marcellus, N.Y. treasurer, and George A. Spader of Morrisville, N.Y., secretary.

Police Ask Raise

certain personal sacrifices, sacrifices which also affect the members of each police officer's family.

"However, we also believe that certain requirements pertaining to a police officer's responsibility, are worthy of consideration by comparison with the average layman's daily pursuit of a livelihood.

There's Always Danger

"By its very nature, the job of a police officer requires exposure to the various elements of the weather. This is an accepted fact of life in law enforcement work. But, it also must be remembered, that any time day or night, an officer may be called upon to place his life in jeopardy during the myriad duties he is called upon to perform.

"When an arrest is made, if his presence is subsequently required in court, the officer is directed to appear — frequently on his off duty time without any financial compensation. If our work schedule so dictates, and more times than not it does, we as police officers work holidays.

"There also is the important consideration of uniform costs. We pay approximately $21 for uniform pants; between $15 to $18 for a uniform shirt; an overcoat costs about $125; a uniform blouse approximately $35. These, it must be pointed out, are out-of-pocket, out-of-salary expenditures.

Up to Boards

(A recently adopted local law permits the police and fire boards to make monetary allowances for uniforms and they may act, at their discretion, at any time).

"The maximum pay for a patrolman on the Kingston Police Department is now $5000 per year. Deduct taxes, retirement pay, etc. and the conclusion must be reached that in these days of soaring costs of living, it is tremendously difficult to raise a family on a patrolman's "take-home" pay.

"These are some of the reasons, we respectfully ask our city officials to seriously consider a salary increase. We do not believe our request is unreasonable or unjustified."

Mayor's Letter

Mayor Schwenk's letter on the proposed meeting with the Common Council:

"Regarding your letter of June 8, 1962, advising that the majority party of the Common Council has requested a meeting with the police board to review the 1959 recommendations of State Police Lieutenant Weidenborner, I have been asked by the police commissioners to inform you that the board has no desire to meet with the Common Council at this time, or for this purpose.

"The commissioners further instructed me to advise you that while they appreciate the interest and concern of the majority members of the council in the affairs of the police board, they are encouraged even more by the confidence expressed in them by the minority members of the council.

"Finally, the commissioners asked me to inform you that they are aware of the problems of the police department, the needs of the people for adequate police protection, and the duties of the police board in carrying out these administrative responsibilities. When they believe that legislative assistance is necessary in achieving their goals, they will be very pleased to call upon the members of the Common Council for their aid."

Stock Must Have Income Or Growth for Appeal

Q) "In 1958 I inherited 384 shares of common stock of Tidewater Oil. This went into a portfolio paced for growth. Now, I cannot seem to grasp the principle involved in holding a large block of stock which neither pays dividends nor has shown any real growth in recent years. I would like to switch this into another sounder oil, such as Standard of Indiana." A.B.

A) Your reasoning is extremely lucid, and I go along with you one hundred per cent.

I can see little or no attraction in Tidewater Oil except the remote possibility that it will some day merge with other Getty companies to form a new oil empire. Even if that occurs, there is no guaranty that you would fare any better than if you were in an already established sound situation.

I like Standard of Indiana for income. However, in a growth portfolio, you might do better to switch to Texaco which, in my opinion, is the most effective marketer in its business—a big consideration in today's economy.

Q) "In buying over-the-counter stocks in lots of 100 or less, on what are the broker's commissions based?" D. K.

A) The over-the-counter broker usually takes his commission in the form of a "profit." Whether on round or odd lots, the profit largely depends on how much effort the broker expends in order to effect the trade.

What the customer pays is the net price or inside price plus profit. There is general agreement among the OTC broker fraternity that no profit on a single transaction should exceed 5 per cent, except in special circumstances.

Some member firms of the New York Stock Exchange—acting as agents—will execute an OTC trade at standard commission rates through their OTC departments. This is done by taking the best inside price obtainable and adding to that figure the exact commission charged on an odd or round lot sale if the stock were listed on the Big Board.

Stanton Admits 5 Po'keepsie Jobs, Chief Declares

A 48-year-old Poughkeepsie man, who is in the Dutchess County jail in lieu of $50,000 bail facing burglary charges, has admitted five burglaries in the city of Poughkeepsie, according to Police Chief John L. Martin.

Raymond H. Stanton, of 34 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, Martin said, admitted committing the burglaries in 1960 and 1961, which netted him more than $1,800. Authorities said Stanton previously admitted 150 burglaries in Dutchess County and valued the stolen goods at more than $500,000.

Martin said Stanton admitted to Detective Sergeant James Murphy and Detective Robert Schuyler and Deputy Sheriffs Charles Borchers and Albert Traver, stealing 300 pounds of copper wire from Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. property. The wire was valued at about $200. The other four burglaries were in Poughkeepsie homes, police said.

Congress Rushing

first session Thursday night and reached no agreements of any kind.

The Senate has before it another House-passed bill with some June 30 deadlines, a Public Welfare Act revision measure, but Senate leaders have put this over to Monday.

It is the vehicle chosen by Senate Democratic leaders for an attempt at winning adoption of a health care plan for the aged financed under Social Security. The health plan would be hooked onto the welfare measure as an amendment.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., administration leader in this effort, conferred at length with Republicans Thursday on a compromise amendment to set up such a plan.

Churchill Back

fractured a small bone in his back.

Hospital sources said the doctors could allow the break to knit naturally or they could join the broken ends with metal pins or plates in an operation under general anesthesia.

Short Vacation

Such an operation, one medical source said, might enable Churchill to get up sooner than if he were allowed to lie and mend gradually.

Churchill's accident ended a Riviera vacation only two days after he arrived to spend two weeks as the guest of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis.

VFW Expresses Views on Prayer Ruling by Court

Members of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars, registered regret at the recent Supreme Court decision on prayer in public schools.

At the regular meeting Wednesday night it was decided to send letters to Congressman Ernest Wharton, Senators Kenneth Keating and Jacop Javits and Attorney General Robert Kennedy expressing their stand. They request legislation to amend the constitution granting those who so desire the right to use prayer in public schools and at public meetings as "their hearts and consciences may direct them."

It was further stated by the members of the Saugerties Post that this step on the part of the U.S. Supreme Court in abolishing the use of suggested Regents Prayer has done away with one of the richest of America's heritages. The Constitution guarantees the right of worship for all who desire to engage in such. The court by its action, the members feel, hinders the right which the constitution grants to the people. The Saugerties VFW Post members agreed to abide by the ruling but feel it is their right to object to the action.

The Rev. Henry L. Reinewald and Past Commanders Francis Dunn and John Utter will attend the New York State VFW Convention in Binghamton today and Saturday where the Rev. Mr. Reinewald will seek the post of state chaplain. He has served as chaplain for the local post and the Ulster County VFW since 1959.

Scout Trining School

Six Boy Scouts of the Saugerties District will leave for the troop leadership training school at Camp Schiff, Mendham, N. J. Sunday for a two-week course covering all phases of scouting. Four of the boys are being sponsored by the Saugerties Chapter of the Order of the Arrow, and two are being sponsored by the Mothers Auxiliary of Troop 130. All were chosen for their qualities of leadership and their intense interest in scouting activities.

Attending will be Donald MacRae of Troop 138; Robert Waade, Troop 36; Robert Burch, Troop 130; John Mullaney, Troop 32; Kenneth Wood and Jeffrey Ollinger, Troop 130. Donald Leard of Troop 31 was also selected by the Order of the Arrow to attend but due to an injury will postpone his attendance until next year.

Attend Lunch Parley

Eight cafeteria workers of the Saugerties Central School system attended the school lunch workshops of the Ulster County School Food Service Association held at the Rondout Valley Central School Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Attending were Catherine Bitterman, Agnes Simmons, Alberta Parslow, Alice DuBois, Alice Kolano, Margaret Sasso and Kay Wengert. All received diplomas at the conclusion of the program.

Events Scheduled

The fourth annual bazaar of the Saugerties Council, Knights of Columbus, 4536, will be held Aug. 16, 17 and 18, on the grounds of the Council Home, Barclay Heights. Saturday night an old fashion auction will be held in conjunction with the bazaar. This year's major awards will be an 800 pound black Angus steer; a 19" portable television set and a transistor portable radio.

A daily vacation Bible school will begin at the Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion, Monday, July 2 and continue until July 13 each week day 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. with the Rev. Henry Reinewald, pastor of the church as instructor.

All children from kindergarten age through eighth grades in the Saugerties area may attend.

Area Notes

Pay-TV Starts Biggest Test in Hartford Area

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) —Pay television's biggest test so far will be seen tonight in about 200 home in Hartford and within a 15-mile radius.

RKO Phonevision will broadcast the program over WHCT (Channel 18) of Hartford.

RKO Phonevision and the Zenith Radio Corp. are partners in the three-year-old experiment—a $10 million venture in competition with movie theaters and possibly in competition with conventional broadcasters.

Advertising agencies, which support much of free television, are vitally involved in whether the pay television without commercials clicks with the public.

RKO Phonevision has told the Federal Communications Commission, which permitted its venture, that paid television would not compete with free television because it would not be airing the same shows.

Tonight's program has an introduction featuring remarks by Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, and several Connecticut political figures.

Then will come "Sunrise at Campobello," a movie that already has played in Hartford, and "Midsummer Night's Dream" a foreign-made film version of Shakespeare's comedy played by puppets, which has not been shown in Hartford movie houses or on television.

The set owner's tab for the show is $1, on top of preliminary costs. A subscriber pays $10 for installation of an electric decoder to get the program from WHCT, an ultra-high frequency station. A subscriber also will have to pay a rental charge of 75 cents a week for the decoder which is a small box on top of the television set that makes sense out of the station's signals that are scrambled so that non-payers can't watch the program for free. The weekly fee, which includes all servicing, will not be charged until October.

Tonight's largest over-the-air test of pay-television comes after several trials of closed-circuit paid television. Closed-circuit television requires extensive wiring, and is much more costly than the over-the-air system being inaugurated here.

Wall Street was more confident following Thursday's gains which were the greatest since the May 29 upsurge, following "Black Monday."

Army Gives Farewell To Secretary Stahr

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a 19-gun salute and four ruffles and flourishes by the Army band, the Army bade an official farewell to Secretary Elvis J. Stahr.

The ceremony Thursday was at Ft. Myer, Va., where a battle group of the 3rd Infantry paraded in review. On hand were Stahr's successor, Cyrus Vance, Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Gen. George Decker, Army chief of staff.

Stahr is to become president of Indiana University. His resignation is effective Saturday.

Regents Upholds Ban on Prayers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court decision banning official prayers in public schools is "now the law of the land and it will be so recognized by all school authorities in the state," the Board of Regents declared today.

The board adopted unanimously a policy statement that appeared to be a directive to local school officials to halt the practice of having children recite prayers to open the school day.

Some to Defy Ban

Some local officials had said they would defy the Supreme Court ban and continue the prayers.

The Regents called on schools to "stress the development of moral values through all the activities and lessons of the school day and, particularly, by the good example of the staff members."

The action of the board, governing body of all education in the state, followed by five days the decision in which the nation's highest court said that the practice of reciting a prayer to open the class day in public schools in New York State violated the U.S. Constitution.

The court, in a 6-1 decision, cited the First Amendment, which requires separation of church and state.

The prayer in question was drafted by the Regents 11 years ago as a non-sectarian one. The board suggested that public school teachers lead their classes at the beginning of each day in the prayer:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee and we beg Thy blessing upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Successful Fight

A group of parents in New Hyde Park, L.I., challenged the use of the prayer. They rejected the defense that children were not compelled to recite it.

The parents said a child would be regarded as a "pariah" by classmates if he did not participate in a daily routine led by a teacher, who is a symbol of authority.

New York State courts upheld the prayer.

Democrats Hear From Chairman, Ex-State Leader

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—William H. McKeon, the state Democratic chairman, is urging his party to choose members of its state executive committee in elections on the local level to "further Democratize" the party.

McKeon told a newsman Thursday that in the past 'Mike picked them all." He was referring to Michael Prendergast, whom McKeon succeeded as state chairman.

In Mechanicville, meanwhile, Prendergast said in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Mechanicville Democratic City Committee that Democrats should stop "fencing with the Rockefeller Republican opposition" and meet 'the need for leadership headon."

Prendergast View

"If we do not, then the Democratic Party is hell bent to fighting a lesing campaign this fall..." Prendergast said.

McKeon was named chairman after Prendergast split with the party's reform faction that backed Robert F. Wagner for mayor of New York City last fall. When Wagner won re-election, he became actual head of the party in the state and the ouster of Prendergast followed.

McKeon said that under his plan, which would need the approval of the party's state executive committee, two committee members would be elected from each of the state's judicial districts.

Work or Get Out

"It will not be a paper committee," McKeon said.

He said in a speech at a fund-raising dinner of the Onondaga County Democratic Committee that candidates would have to "get out and work — or get out."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, one of the four announced candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said in a telegram from Washington that he "will stay in the fight to become our party's candidate until the last delegate is counted" at the state convention here in September.

Stratton also has the endorsement of county chairmen in the 35th Congressional District for the district's congressional nomination.

The chairman several times has suggested that Stratton "give full attention" to his campaign for election to Congress.

Two Others Talk

Two other candidates for the gubernatorial nomination addressed the Onondaga County group.

Howard J. Samuels, a Canandaigua manufacturer, called for "well-organized cost-reduction programs to bring greater efficiency to government without cutting back on vital services" in the state.

Frank D. O'Connor, Queens County district attorney, said that whoever is elected governor "will be faced with a (budget) deficit" because of what he termed gimmicks of the Rockefeller administration to balance the 1962-63 budget.

Police Ask Raise

certain personal sacrifices, sacrifices which also affect the members of each police officer's family.

"However, we also believe that certain requirements pertaining to a police officer's responsibility, are worthy of consideration by comparison with the average layman's daily pursuit of a livelihood.

There's Always Danger

"By its very nature, the job of a police officer requires exposure to the various elements of the weather. This is an accepted fact of life in law enforcement work. But, it also must be remembered, that any time day or night, an officer may be called upon to place his life in jeopardy during the myriad duties he is called upon to perform.

"When an arrest is made, if his presence is subsequently required in court, the officer is directed to appear — frequently on his off duty time without any financial compensation. If our work schedule so dictates, and more times than not it does, we as police officers work holidays.

"There also is the important consideration of uniform costs. We pay approximately $21 for uniform pants; between $15 to $18 for a uniform shirt; an overcoat costs about $125; a uniform blouse approximately $35. These, it must be pointed out, are out-of-pocket, out-of-salary expenditures.

Up to Boards

(A recently adopted local law permits the police and fire boards to make monetary allowances for uniforms and they may act, at their discretion, at any time).

"The maximum pay for a patrolman on the Kingston Police Department is now $5000 per year. Deduct taxes, retirement pay, etc. and the conclusion must be reached that in these days of soaring costs of living, it is tremendously difficult to raise a family on a patrolman's "take-home" pay.

"These are some of the reasons, we respectfully ask our city officials to seriously consider a salary increase. We do not believe our request is unreasonable or unjustified."

Mayor's Letter

Mayor Schwenk's letter on the proposed meeting with the Common Council:

"Regarding your letter of June 8, 1962, advising that the majority party of the Common Council has requested a meeting with the police board to review the 1959 recommendations of State Police Lieutenant Weidenborner, I have been asked by the police commissioners to inform you that the board has no desire to meet with the Common Council at this time, or for this purpose.

"The commissioners further instructed me to advise you that while they appreciate the interest and concern of the majority members of the council in the affairs of the police board, they are encouraged even more by the confidence expressed in them by the minority members of the council.

"Finally, the commissioners asked me to inform you that they are aware of the problems of the police department, the needs of the people for adequate police protection, and the duties of the police board in carrying out these administrative responsibilities. When they believe that legislative assistance is necessary in achieving their goals, they will be very pleased to call upon the members of the Common Council for their aid."

Chief's Report

Of the arrests reported by Chief Murphy 57 were for public intoxication, 35 for violations of the city traffic code, 20 for vehicle and traffic law infractions, 12 for third degree assault, four each for disorderly conduct and trespassing on railroad property, two for petit larceny and one each for, second degree grand larceny, third degree burglary, rape, a violation of the anti-noise law, and endangerment of the life and health of a child.

Of those arrested 45 paid fines, 16 were given jail sentences, 50 were given suspended sentences, nine were discharged, and six charges were withdrawn. One case went to a grand jury and nine are pending.

Four of the traffic mishaps involved pedestrains, 16 persons were injured in 12 accidents involving two or more vehicles, two persons were injured in falls from vehicles and two were hurt in bicycle mishaps. Four accidents involved vehicles and fixed objects.

Stock Must Have Income Or Growth for Appeal

Q) "In 1958 I inherited 384 shares of common stock of Tidewater Oil. This went into a portfolio paced for growth. Now, I cannot seem to grasp the principle involved in holding a large block of stock which neither pays dividends nor has shown any real growth in recent years. I would like to switch this into another sounder oil, such as Standard of Indiana." A.B.

A) Your reasoning is extremely lucid, and I go along with you one hundred per cent.

I can see little or no attraction in Tidewater Oil except the remote possibility that it will some day merge with other Getty companies to form a new oil empire. Even if that occurs, there is no guaranty that you would fare any better than if you were in an already established sound situation.

I like Standard of Indiana for income. However, in a growth portfolio, you might do better to switch to Texaco which, in my opinion, is the most effective marketer in its business—a big consideration in today's economy.

Q) "In buying over-the-counter stocks in lots of 100 or less, on what are the broker's commissions based?" D. K.

A) The over-the-counter broker usually takes his commission in the form of a "profit." Whether on round or odd lots, the profit largely depends on how much effort the broker expends in order to effect the trade.

What the customer pays is the net price or inside price plus profit. There is general agreement among the OTC broker fraternity that no profit on a single transaction should exceed 5 per cent, except in special circumstances.

Some member firms of the New York Stock Exchange—acting as agents—will execute an OTC trade at standard commission rates through their OTC departments. This is done by taking the best inside price obtainable and adding to that figure the exact commission charged on an odd or round lot sale if the stock were listed on the Big Board.

Stanton Admits 5 Po'keepsie Jobs, Chief Declares

A 48-year-old Poughkeepsie man, who is in the Dutchess County jail in lieu of $50,000 bail facing burglary charges, has admitted five burglaries in the city of Poughkeepsie, according to Police Chief John L. Martin.

Raymond H. Stanton, of 34 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, Martin said, admitted committing the burglaries in 1960 and 1961, which netted him more than $1,800. Authorities said Stanton previously admitted 150 burglaries in Dutchess County and valued the stolen goods at more than $500,000.

Martin said Stanton admitted to Detective Sergeant James Murphy and Detective Robert Schuyler and Deputy Sheriffs Charles Borchers and Albert Traver, stealing 300 pounds of copper wire from Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. property. The wire was valued at about $200. The other four burglaries were in Poughkeepsie homes, police said.

Congress Rushing

first session Thursday night and reached no agreements of any kind.

The Senate has before it another House-passed bill with some June 30 deadlines, a Public Welfare Act revision measure, but Senate leaders have put this over to Monday.

It is the vehicle chosen by Senate Democratic leaders for an attempt at winning adoption of a health care plan for the aged financed under Social Security. The health plan would be hooked onto the welfare measure as an amendment.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., administration leader in this effort, conferred at length with Republicans Thursday on a compromise amendment to set up such a plan.

Churchill Back

fractured a small bone in his back.

Hospital sources said the doctors could allow the break to knit naturally or they could join the broken ends with metal pins or plates in an operation under general anesthesia.

Short Vacation

Such an operation, one medical source said, might enable Churchill to get up sooner than if he were allowed to lie and mend gradually.

Churchill's accident ended a Riviera vacation only two days after he arrived to spend two weeks as the guest of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis.

VFW Expresses Views on Prayer Ruling by Court

Members of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars, registered regret at the recent Supreme Court decision on prayer in public schools.

At the regular meeting Wednesday night it was decided to send letters to Congressman Ernest Wharton, Senators Kenneth Keating and Jacop Javits and Attorney General Robert Kennedy expressing their stand. They request legislation to amend the constitution granting those who so desire the right to use prayer in public schools and at public meetings as "their hearts and consciences may direct them."

It was further stated by the members of the Saugerties Post that this step on the part of the U.S. Supreme Court in abolishing the use of suggested Regents Prayer has done away with one of the richest of America's heritages. The Constitution guarantees the right of worship for all who desire to engage in such. The court by its action, the members feel, hinders the right which the constitution grants to the people. The Saugerties VFW Post members agreed to abide by the ruling but feel it is their right to object to the action.

The Rev. Henry L. Reinewald and Past Commanders Francis Dunn and John Utter will attend the New York State VFW Convention in Binghamton today and Saturday where the Rev. Mr. Reinewald will seek the post of state chaplain. He has served as chaplain for the local post and the Ulster County VFW since 1959.

Scout Trining School

Six Boy Scouts of the Saugerties District will leave for the troop leadership training school at Camp Schiff, Mendham, N. J. Sunday for a two-week course covering all phases of scouting. Four of the boys are being sponsored by the Saugerties Chapter of the Order of the Arrow, and two are being sponsored by the Mothers Auxiliary of Troop 130. All were chosen for their qualities of leadership and their intense interest in scouting activities.

Attending will be Donald MacRae of Troop 138; Robert Waade, Troop 36; Robert Burch, Troop 130; John Mullaney, Troop 32; Kenneth Wood and Jeffrey Ollinger, Troop 130. Donald Leard of Troop 31 was also selected by the Order of the Arrow to attend but due to an injury will postpone his attendance until next year.

Attend Lunch Parley

Eight cafeteria workers of the Saugerties Central School system attended the school lunch workshops of the Ulster County School Food Service Association held at the Rondout Valley Central School Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Attending were Catherine Bitterman, Agnes Simmons, Alberta Parslow, Alice DuBois, Alice Kolano, Margaret Sasso and Kay Wengert. All received diplomas at the conclusion of the program.

Events Scheduled

The fourth annual bazaar of the Saugerties Council, Knights of Columbus, 4536, will be held Aug. 16, 17 and 18, on the grounds of the Council Home, Barclay Heights. Saturday night an old fashion auction will be held in conjunction with the bazaar. This year's major awards will be an 800 pound black Angus steer; a 19" portable television set and a transistor portable radio.

A daily vacation Bible school will begin at the Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion, Monday, July 2 and continue until July 13 each week day 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. with the Rev. Henry Reinewald, pastor of the church as instructor.

All children from kindergarten age through eighth grades in the Saugerties area may attend.

Area Notes

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I received an interesting item dated May 24 from the Catskill Mountain News about Woodchuck Lodge and Boyhood Rock, the John Burroughs' memorial at Roxbury. I have never been there but heard and real a lot about it. I just want to quote a little from these published letters to give the readers an idea and information on this controversy.

One letter reads in part: "Woodchuck Lodge was a well-kept, attractive place when I saw it last summer, and Mrs. Blanche Burroughs was a pleasant, hospitable hostess. It is an extremely interesting place to visit. Also, you should at least drive past the old homestead where John Burroughs grew up, it was built when he was 13 and John helped build it. It is owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Kim, now in Korea. They made extensive improvements and their excellent dairy farm is being cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hankinson in their absence." This letter was dated June 1, 1962 and was from Roxbury.

The next letter is from Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley of West Park, which is dated May 28. (Mrs. Kelley is John Burroughs' granddaughter). Mrs. Kelley's letter reads in part: "The editorial in the May 24 issue of the Catskill Mountain News has just been called to my attention, and I am wondering whether the one who wrote these paragraphs ever saw Woodchuck Lodge when my grandfather, John Burroughs, lived there. If so, he must have a poor memory. The rustic, weathered effect is that which my grandfather chose, and my cousin, Wilson Burroughs, to whom my father and mother deeded Woodchuck Lodge, has endeavored to keep that effect, with the handmade porch furniture and niches where birds can nest. If you look at photographs of the lodge taken when my grandfather lived there, you will see exactly what I mean..."

Mrs. Kelley further explains that her grandfather did not want the field altered. "He chose the homey, natural surroundings that he had always known. In keeping with his wishes, the John Burrough Club of Roxbury and the John Burroughs Association have not made changes, though they have had trees cut so that the view would not be blocked off..."

It seems the letter written by Clarke A. Sanford which follows explains that he wrote the article and mentions "other shrines of great Americans" and feels "that $50,000 or more money would be needed..." and further writes "The present arrangement probably pleased the older generation, but I am concerned with the future whose ladies with spike heels, for instance, could not walk to Boyhood Rock...My entire thought is for the future, for the time to come when friends of Woodchuck Lodge are gone and the monument to a great man withers because his generation did not make it substantial and permanent..." He compares John Burroughs to J. Fenimore Cooper and mentions Cooperstown.

I did not know just how to go about bringing the enclosed information into a column without causing friction one way or another, and especially as, so far I have not seen Woodchuck Lodge or Slabsides. To my humble way of looking at it, John Burroughs was an outdoor man, and known for being a naturalist, a lover of nature as he found it, to which I feel rustic way of life fits the picture perfectly. Can you imagine plastic furniture in modern style in his cook-out. The birds would laugh. There is a place for spike heels no doubt, but not when walking in soft grass, over smooth cobble rocks or paths through the woods. To me, nature's setting of sunrise and sunsets is more magnificient than any mere man can create and much more permanent.

'Best Man' Opens Tuesday

Starting Tuesday, July 3, the Playhouse will present one of the most successful plays to hit Broadway: Gore Vidal's THE BEST MAN! The author is very well known in this area, having run for Congress in the last national elections. The play became even more newsworthy this past season when President and Mrs. Kennedy attended a performance in New York. The Best Man concerns itself with the political aspirations of two presidential candidates and the problems that are created when one tries to use smear tactics and create a scandal about the other. It is a most exciting drama and really created a big stir in both the political and theatrical circles when it opened on Broadway. Fred Miller, Maurice Edwards, George Gitto, Gaye Glaeser, Ellen Knox, Allison Howard, George Bartenieff, Mark Mirsky and Barry Hober will be seen in the leading roles.

The Best Man will run Tuesday, July 3 through Sunday, July 8. Tickets are now on sale at the box office.

Barbara Dana Makes Musical Debut

Barbara Dana, popular young actress who is well known to Hyde Park audiences, returns this season in a new role. The 21 year old blonde performer, remembered for her many dramatic parts, will make her musical debut at the Hyde Park Playhouse in "Bye Bye Birdie" July 3.

Barbara returns to Hyde Park from Hollywood, having completed a TV film, "Bus Stop" with John Kerr. Local theatre-goers will recall her performances in Hyde Park productions like "You Touched Me!" by Tennessee Williams and "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" by William Inge. Barbara was also seen at The Woodstock Playhouse in "Blue Denim."

Barbara began her career at 16 as a photographer's model appearing in leading magazines like "Life," "McCall's," "Seventeen," "The Ladies' Home Journal," "The Saturday Evening Post" and many others. She made her professional stage debut at 17 in "The Happiest Millionaire" at Webster, Mass. She was soon featured in many off-Broadway productions. Barbara played "Nora" in Arthur Laurents' drama "A Clearing in the Woods," the ingenue lead in "A Worm in Horse-radish" and "Regina" in Ibsen's "Ghosts." She also recently appeared with John Payne in the Broadway-bound production of "Tender Loving Care."

Not being one to desert the camera entirely, Barbara has become one of TV's busiest young actresses and has appeared in over 100 network shows. Viewers have enjoyed her in two "Play of the Week" shows, "The Grass Harp" with Lillian Gish and "A Clearing in the Woods" with Celeste Holm. Barbara played the daughter of Chester Morris in "U. S. Steel Hour."

She also appeared opposite star Lee Philips on "Ellery Queen" and with Glenda Farrell on the "Purex Special for Women." She is frequently recalled as "Margot" on the daytime drama "From These Roots."

This summer at Hyde Park, Barbara will display her versatility by first appearing as a wholesome teenager in "Bye Bye Birdie"; followed by the 21-year-old neurotic wife of "Toys in the Attic." This Broadway hit play by Lillian Hellman will be seen July 17-22.

New Phoenicia Offering

The controversial, award-winning drama "A Taste of Honey" is the next production at the Phoenicia Playhouse. The play opens Tuesday, July 3 and was specially chosen for the big holiday weekend following July 4.

Jim Stark who was the Broadway understudy in the role of Geoffrey will repeat his performance which won him many plaudits when he appeared alongside Joan Plowright. The leading role of Jo will be played at Phoenicia by Lynn Kevin. The Negro sailor will be played by Clarence Stevenson.

"A Taste of Honey" was written by Shelaigh Delaney when she was but 18 years old. The Phoenicia production will adhere closely to the original London version which was subsequently watered down when the play was transferred to Broadway. At the time, the play and many of the poignant dramatic elements were considered "too strong" for American audiences.

Jordon Hott, director of the Phoenicia Playhouse will attempt to stage the play boldly and without evasive treatment in the face of many delicate moral themes. Youngsters under 16 will not be admitted to this production. The play is especially remarkable having issued from the mind and pen of an 18-year-old girl.

Cape Cod Theatre

The Cape Cod Melody Tent in Hyannis, Mass., will open its 13th season on Friday night, June 29, with NO TIME FOR SERGEANTS, starring Myron McCormick in his original Broadway role. He will be assisted by Charles Hoaman and Howard Freeman, repeating their original assignments.

NO TIME FOR SERGEANTS concerns the adventures of a cornfed Southern hillbilly, Will Stockdale, the Huckleberry Finn of theatre comedy, who gets drafted and then practically wrecks the entire U. S. Army simply by being friendly and willing. When Will goes into military service willingly and treats sergeants and officers like friends, the structure of military life is shaken to its fourth and fifth echelons. Although Will survives, the Air Force and infantry are subjected to hilarious complications.

The idea is irresistible. His inherent honesty and blind devotion to the literal meaning of the spoken word lead him through a series of predicaments involving a couple of comic generals and finally culminating in full-hero status.

An innocent abroad in any branch of the military service has always been a fertile field for laughs, and this comedy is notably one which has no relation to the "shootin'" war. This is a tale of drudgery and doldrums of the peacetime service, with scarcely a breather between laughs.

Ten times funnier in-the-round, the Melody Tent's staging has made the situations even more ridiculous. There's no time to stop laughing at this uproarious cartoon of a mountain boy in the Air Force.

The Melody Ten box office is now open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., except Sundays. Beginning on June 29 it will be open from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m.

Other attractions at the Melody Tent during the summer months include:

Gypsy, July 9 through July 14; New Moon, July 16 through July 21; Fiorello, July 23, through July 28; Lerner and Loewe's Brigadoon, July 30 through August 4; Music Man, August 6 through August 18; Bye Bye Birdie, August 20 through September 1.

A special attraction, booked for Sunday, August 12, will feature the Louis Armstrong concert.

Extra matinee shows also are set for Aug. 11, Aug. 18 and Aug. 25.

Eugene Speicher Collection Bequeathed to Arts Academy; Area Residents Share in Will

Several Woodstock area residents and the American Academy of Arts and Letters of New York share in the will of the late Eugene Speicher, noted Woodstock artist, who died on May 11 at the age of 79.

Total value of the estate, which was offered for probate on May 25 in the Surrogate's Court of Ulster County, was not announced.

The principal beneficiary is the American Academy of Arts and Letters to which Speicher bequeathed all paintings in oil and drawings and pastels executed by him, including their frames, wherever situated.

The will stipulates Speicher's "sincere wish" that the works comprised in the bequest be sold from time to time at private sale (and not at auction) and the proceeds used to establish a fund under the name of "The Speicher Fund" for the encouragement and promotion of painting and black and white work in the United States; the income of the fund to be used by the Academy for the purchase of paintings (including water colors and pastels) and drawings by American artists which shall be presented by the Academy to any art museum of the United States which it may select.

In the event the Academy of Arts and Letters refuses to accept the bequest, the National Academy of Design of New York City is substituted as the recipient.

The total number of Speicher paintings now extant is not known but it is reported to be extensive.

Gives Cash Bequests

Cash bequests of $2500 each go to Jean Rosen of Woodstock, widow of artist Charles Rosen, and Evelyn Eckerlein of Saugerties. Donald Gardner of Woodstock is bequeathed $500.

The beautiful Speicher property on Bellows Lane, excluding all paintings, drawings and pastels, was bequeathed to Jean Bellows Booth of Dobbs Ferry. Emma Bellows of New York city receives all the family jewelry, wearing apparel and personal mementoes.

Seven friends of the celebrated artist each receive one painting of their own choice from the vast collection. They are Evelyn Eckerlein; Nan Mason and Wilna Hervey, Bearsville; Jean Rosen, Adele Longendyke, Margaret Antenucci and Donald Gardner, all of Woodstock.

The remainder of the estate, regardless of whether the same be real, personal or mixed, is divided into sixty equal shares and bequeathed as follows:

Wilna Hervey, Bearsville, 13 shares; Nan Mason, Bearsville, 13 shares; Luther Russell, Woodstock, one share and an automobile; Frank Wilson Shimer, a nephew, Norwalk, Conn., 12 shares; Raeburn Shimer, nephew, Oradell, N. J., 12 shares; Mrs. Andree Taylor, Shady, 5 shares; Woodstock Library, 2 shares, to be used for purchase of art books; Mrs. Hannah Reynolds, Bearsville, 2 shares.

In the event that any of the share legacies shall lapse, in each instance the legacy shall be paid over to Miss Wilna Hervey and Nan Mason in equal shares or all to the survivor.

Edwin Trent and Sanford Becker, New York attorneys, and the Chemical Bank New York Trust Company are named executors of the estate.

Dean of Local Artists

Speicher, one of America's best known painters of portraits and figures, was the dean of Woodstock artists. He first came to Woodstock with George Bellows in 1907.

He was an honorary member of the Art Students League of New York and a Life Member. He taught at the League from 1908 to 1913 and from 1919 to 1920. In 1907 he was a member of the League's Board of Control.

Speicher was born in New York on April 5, 1883, and before going to the Art Students League on a scholarship, he was at the Albright Art School in Buffalo, at about the time this well known school was abandoning its original name, the Art Students League of Buffalo, in order to become a part of the Albright Gallery.

His father was superintendent of the George N. Pierce plant in Buffalo, manufacturers of bird cages and bicycles, and, later on, of automobiles. He encouraged his talented son in his desire to become an artist, a rare attitude in those days, and once said to him: "Now if you go into this art thing you won't make much money but you'll have a mighty fine life." The records will show that Speicher achieved a full measure of both.

Speicher's genius asserted itself early. The painting of Georgia O'Keefe, a fellow student at the Art Students League, won what was then known as the Instructors Prize. This was at the close of the 1907-08 session. The painting became the property of the Art Students League.

When Speicher studied with Robert Henri at the Henri School in 1909, his fellow students included Edward Hopper, Rockwell Kent, Guy Pene du Bois and George Bellows, whose close friend he was until Bellows' death in 1925.

Eugene Speicher was a member of the National Academy, the National Institute of Arts and Letters, the American Academy of Arts and Letters and his works the in most of the leading museums throughout the country.

Dealers Await Antiques Fair

The third annual Antiques Fair and Sale opening at the Colony Arts in Woodstock on July 4 promises to be the most interesting show in the series thus far.

Dealers from New Jersey, Connecticut and Long Island, as well as many local favorites, will bring some of their finest wares for this four-day indoor show as they will have one to two days in advance in which to set up their booths.

Among the dealers exhibiting are Ferguson-Schmidt, Falls Village, Conn.; C. Robert Moore, the Red Sleigh, Rockville Center, L. I.; Amberlight Antiques, North Baldwin, L. I.; Rabern Interiors, Rego Park, L. I.; Helen M. Cox, White Plains, N. Y.; Henry Purnie, Utica, N. Y.; Carmela Hughes of Newark and Mildred Slominger of Newark, N. J.; Roslyn South, Westerlo, N. Y.; Elizabeth Haeussler, Mt. Marion, Sonia Rice and Sonia Rubin, both of Woodstock.

Three autographed copies of "Newgold's Guide to Modern Hobbies, Arts, and Crafts" written by Bill Newgold, director of the Colony Arts Center, will be awarded as prizes.

The antiques show will continue through July 7 from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. daily.

Artists Endorse Planning Board

At a meeting of the Executive Board on June 18, which followed much discussion by the general membership at its June 8 meeting, and extension meeting on June 15, a Woodstock Artists Association resolution was unanimously approved pledging support of the Planning Board.

The resolution said that "on behalf of the Woodstock Artists Association, now in its 43rd year in the life of this community, the executive board makes the following announcement of its position in regard to the future of Woodstock:

"The prosperity and national fame of this town is a direct result of the many cultural activities of its artist population. As a consequence it is our right and duty to fight to preserve much of its character as possible.

"The creative atmosphere, established by the artist as his Way of Life, has inevitably drawn many distinguished people from other walks of life who make their homes here. This has added immeasurably of the prosperity and well being of this community.

"We, therefore, as a matter of urgent self-preservation and community interest, support the town Planning Board in its efforts to develop a logical and orderly Growth Plan and all zoning ordinances necessary to implement this plan.

Watercolor Art On Display at Albany Exhibit

The Albany Institute of History and Art has two significant exhibitions in the main galleries for the entire summer period, July 10 through September 16. This is done to afford people in the area a longer opportunity to come in and see the exhibitions at their leisure.

One of these exhibitions is Masters of American Watercolor on display through Sept. 16. A rare selection of paintings by the greatest artists associated with the art of watercolor painting in America have been chosen for the exhibition by Lloyd Goodrich, director of the Whitney Museum of Art.

The exhibition is sponsored by the New York State Council on the Arts and is being circulated by the American Fderation of Arts to museums and art galleries in the state for one year.

Brilliant examples of such early and international masters as Winslow Homer and John Singer Sargent may be seen representing the tradition and skill of the 19th century, while top ranking contemporaries Ben Shahn, Charles Burchfield, Edward Hopper and Morris Gaves, to mention only a few, are also included. Styles range from the delicate pictorial strength of Charles Demuth's works to the vigorous abstractions of Mark Rothko and William Kienbusch.

Among the more than 30 examples are Lyonel Feininger's Black Sun Path; Morris Graves' Nestling; Edward Hopper's Gloucester Harbor; John La Farge's Diadem Mountain at Sunset, Tahiti; and Winslow Homer's Shark Fishing.

Woodstock News

Van Valkenburgh will be the first in Woodstock in over two decades.

The keynote address will be given by David Baurn of Union Seminary. Baurn has achieved considerable acclaim in Woodstock as a result of his recent sermons at the Dutch Reformed Church.

Friends, well wishers and Woodstock citizens are urged to make this ceremony a success.

Parnassus Group Has Second Play

The second play by an unknown author to be read by the Parnassus Square Creative Theatre, will take place on Monday, July 2, the reading to begin at 8 p. m. at Parnassus Square.

This group, interested mainly in the works of unknown playwrites, welcomes any and all material.

The dramatic classes for children, ages 8 to 12, which the group is sponsoring, will begin with registration on July 2nd at 1 p. m. in the Panrnassus Square Barn.

Eda Toldi Crist, the director of these classes, will be on hand to greet the children and Joan Stowater will handle the actual registration. Further information for either of these projects can be obtained by calling Mrs. Crist or Panassus Square.

New Features For No. 1 Bazaar

Several new features have been added to the annual Fire Company No. 1 fund raising bazaar which runs this evening and Saturday night at Andy Lee Memorial Field in Woodstock.

Several prominent Woodstock artists have donated paintings which will be awarded at a ceremony about 8 p. m. Saturday. The contributing artists are Paul Arndt, Allen Cochrane, Maxine Wingate, John Galvin and Therese Kessel.

Many local merchants also have donated merchandise to be awarded along with the paintings. Mrs. Adele Longendyke and Mrs. Robert Hastie are in charge of arrangements for the paintings and merchandise.

Another innovation is the marching of the volunteer firemen from the fire company headquarters to Andy Lee Memorial Field this evening at 7 p. m. to open the bazaar.

Godwin Oyewole On Program at Turnau Festival

The Woodstock Festival Dinner committee has announced an extra added attraction for its annual fund raising dinner-musicale Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the Turnau Opera House in Byrdcliffe.

The big event will be the appearance of Godwin Oyewole of Nigeria, who will sing and play the African drums. Oyewole is a student at New Paltz State University and teaches at the Wiltwyck School for Boys at Esopus.

His appearance two weeks ago at the Hootenanny, together with a corps of students of his students whom he had taught to play the drums, brought down the house.

Other artists scheduled to appear are: Alan Baker, tenor; Karen Geiger, dancer; Phyllis Rappeport, pianist; Barbara Cohn, clarinetist; Ira Deutsch, oboe; Nancy Wyner, messo soprano.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— For such a funny guy on the screen, Tommy Kirk can be a serious young man.

So serious that he wants to change his name to Thomas Kirk.

"I've outgrown Tommy and I hate it," reasons the 20-year-old. "I hate Tom, too. It sounds as if it should go with 'Tom Swift and his Electric Vibrator.' Besides, Tom Kirk is too curt. Tom H. Kirk might be better. No, I think it should be Thomas Kirk."

No amount of reasoning can dissuade him. "It's Robert Taylor, not Bob," says he. But Bob Hope has done all right. "Yeah, but he's a comedian. I'm talking about actors. They don't bill Laurence Olivier as Larry."

He doesn't have to face the decision until December, when he turns 21. As Tom, Tommy or Thomas, he looks assured of a sturdy career. He's had one already as Walt Disney's busiest actor.

Kirk may well be Disney's good luck piece; he has been in most of the studio's recent hits, excluding the animated features.

You name it, he's done it— 'Old Yeller,' 'The Shaggy Dog,' (he was the boy-turned-dog) "Swiss Family Robinson," "The Absent-Minded Professor," "Babes in Toyland," "Moon Pilot" and "Bon Voyage." Now he's performing in Disney's first sequel, "Son of Flubber."

Kid actors have come and gone at Disney's, but Tommy remains under contract and busy. He has done nine pictures in six years, plus television segments.

Kirk was born in Louisville, Ky., came to California at an early age. He happened to go along one day when his older brother tried out for "Ah Wilderness" at Pasadena Playhouse. Brother Joe missed out but Tommy was tagged for the role of a 12-year-old named Tommy.

North's opening bid, but there were 12 top tricks in the combined hands and the 13th should appear if spades break 3-3.

Otherwise, the only play for the contract was a double squeeze and since West had clearly marked himself with the queen of hearts the double squeeze would surely work if East held the spade stopper.

The important thing was that North must lead the squeezing card.

Hence, after taking dummy's ace of hearts, South cashed his ace-king and queen of spades.

South happened to be something of a show-off, so when West showed out South claimed seven on a squeeze.

His claim was correct. All he had to do was to run off the diamond suit. On the last diamond East would have to discard down to two clubs in order to hold the high spade. Now, South would throw away his last spade, whereupon West also would have to go down to two clubs in order to hold the queen of hearts.

Ex-Disc Jockey Wins 3.5 Million In Libel Action

NEW YORK (AP) — Former disc jockey John Henry Faulk was awarded $3.5 million libel damages Thursday night on his charge that linking him to a Communist conspiracy destroyed his broadcasting career.

After deliberating four hours after an 11-week trial the jury, by an 11 to 1 vote, found for Faulk against the publication Aware, Inc.; Vincent W. Hartnett, one of its directors; and the late Laurence A. Johnson, operator of a chain of supermarkets in Syracuse, N.Y.

The panel of eight men and four women awarded Faulk a total of $1 million compensatory damages divided among all three defendants and punitive damages of $1.25 million each from Aware and Hartnett. The judge had ruled that no punitive damages could be collected from Johnson's estate.

Faulk's counsel had asked an award of $4 million.

Defense attorneys said they definitely will appeal.

The verdict was handed down on the Faulks' 14th wedding anniversary, prompting Mrs. Faulk to say: "It's the nicest present I could have got."

Murray Is Named Editorial Chief Of Speidel Chain

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — Charles E. Murray, vice president of Reno (Nev.) Newspapers Inc., has been appointed editorial director of Speidel Newspapers Inc.

Murray moved to Reno June 1 from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., where he had been editorial director of the Poughkeepsie Journal.

The announcement of Murray's appointment was made by President Harry S. Bunker, president of Speidel, Newspapers, after a meeting of the firm's board of directors.

Speidel newspapers are in Salinas and Visalia, Calif.; Reno, Nev.; Fort Collins, Colo.; Iowa City, Iowa, and Poughkeepsie.

Shower of Mail Comes From Prayer Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court had a good idea Thursday what happens when hundreds of persons decide to write to Washington.

Hundreds of letters and stacks of telegrams have poured into the court building since Justice Hugo Black announced last Monday the decision barring use of official prayers in public schools.

The actual number of messages received could not be learned. But the outpouring from all corners of the country, was reported to be the largest in the tribunal's history.

Under court custom, contents of the messages remained a secret.

Spanish War Veteran Wills $14,000 to U. S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Spanish-American war veteran, who willed his $14,000 savings to the federal government, was found dead Thursday in his trailer home.

"The government has been good to me, and I'm giving the money back," Marc Antony, 92, said when he made the request earlier this year. Antony explained he lived frugally and was able to save almost all the pension money he received as a veteran.

Gov. to Tour L.I.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's next in a series of "saturation" visits to various parts of the state will be a three-day tour of Long Island next month.

Rockefeller is expected to tour state facilities and meet with business, civic, education and industrial leaders during the visit to Nassau and Suffolk Counties July 17-19. His schedule in the seven previous tours of this nature usually included a "town" meeting at which the public questioned the governor.

After deliberating four hours after an 11-week trial the jury, by an 11 to 1 vote, found for Faulk against the publication Aware, Inc.; Vincent W. Hartnett, one of its directors; and the late Laurence A. Johnson, operator of a chain of supermarkets in Syracuse, N.Y.

Johnson, excused from attending the trial because of ill health, died Wednesday in a Bronx motel.

The panel of eight men and four women awarded Faulk a total of $1 million compensatory damages divided among all three defendants and punitive damages of $1.25 million each from Aware and Hartnett. The judge had ruled that no punitive damages could be collected from Johnson's estate.

Faulk's counsel had asked an award of $4 million.

Defense attorneys said they definitely will appeal.

The verdict was handed down on the Faulks' 14th wedding anniversary, prompting Mrs. Faulk to say: "It's the nicest present I could have got."

Spanish War Veteran Wills $14,000 to U. S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Spanish-American war veteran, who willed his $14,000 savings to the federal government, was found dead Thursday in his trailer home.

"The government has been good to me, and I'm giving the money back," Marc Antony, 92, said when he made the request earlier this year. Antony explained he lived frugally and was able to save almost all the pension money he received as a veteran.

Gov. to Tour L.I.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's next in a series of "saturation" visits to various parts of the state will be a three-day tour of Long Island next month.

Rockefeller is expected to tour state facilities and meet with business, civic, education and industrial leaders during the visit to Nassau and Suffolk Counties July 17-19. His schedule in the seven previous tours of this nature usually included a "town" meeting at which the public questioned the governor.

Must Restore Good Health, Diet First

Some Means Are Listed to Help Alcoholics Fight Their Way Back

EDITOR'S NOTE—Science has yet to unravel the dark mystery which lies in the body or in the soul of an alcoholic, demanding drink. But small advances in knowledge are being made. This last in a series describing the modern attack on alcoholism reports these advances and lists some helpful do's and don'ts.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

At 3 a.m., in a fuzzy voice, the young man telephoned a doctor he'd never met, asking for an appointment.

He burst into the office early in the morning, demanding "some of those pills to keep me from drinking. I've got to stay sober the next few days—very important."

There is an antidrinking drug, but it's no magic powder-in-the-coffee affair.

This drug is disulfiram (trade-name antabuse). It is completely harmless, until a person drinks any alcohol. Then he becomes violently ill.

Could Be Disastrous

It act- as a chemical fence reinforcing the alcoholic's determination not to drink. It must be prescribed and guided by a physician, for otherwise reactions could be disastrous. The alcoholic must know that he's taking it, and what it will do. It wasn't the easy answer for the young man, except so far as it marked a start toward real desire to stop drinking.

The road back from alcoholism is tortuous and difficult, but much can be don medically and psychologically, explains Dr. Ruth Fox, medical director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

A first step is restoration of good health and diet. The alcoholic often has liver, nerve or other damage.

He may need hospital care for a time. Tranquillizing drugs now can help him sleep, or handle mood swings and anxiety.

Clergymen increasingly are helping alcoholics find and follow useful, sober new lives.

Hypnosis, in the hands of trained physicians, can assist alcoholics to relax and handle tensions, Dr. Fox says.

All reatments, the physician points out, have a common goal: Understanding and reinforcing the need for total abstinence, of life without drink.

The downfall of the alcoholic ha- been blai ed on faulty or lazy glands, or lack of certain vitamins, and other biochemical upsets. But simply replacing the missing chemicals has proved disappointing in treating or preventing alcoholism, Dr. Fox says.

Social Stima Lingers

Social and family attitudes are still roadblocks in dealing with alcoholism, says Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

"Too many people still attach a social stigma to alcoholism, as was once done with epilepsy and TB. There are still people in key places who don't recognize it as a sickness."

Some Dont's

For guidance of wives, husbands and children of alcoholics, Mrs. Mann and other authorities list some do's and don'ts:

Don't plead, don't censure, don't nag the alcoholic.

And when the alcoholic slips, don't tearfully exclaim, "If you loved me, you wouldn't do this to me." The alcoholic usually feels enough remorse and guilt already.

Don't try to hide liquor or take it away, or cut off his money. Don't just get angry. Don't call him a moral weakling.

Do try to understand alcoholism as a sickness, and discuss it and any episodes calmly. Do understand the alcoholic is not unlike the diabetic to whom sugar is a poison.

Do set teen-agers a good example.

Do get the facts on alcoholism, from doctors, from AA, from Al-Anon or Alateen, alcoholism information centers and other authoritative sources.

Banning Prayer

June 26

Editor, The Freeman:

So now the U. S. Supreme Court has voted that a prayer, undenominational in character, is wrong and must no longer be heard in the public schools! One more step downward. ... Then we wonder why children become delinquent, why things occur in young lives which were once almost unheard of in the adults, and still the picture darkens;

What can be done?

This setback once more throws the responsibility on the parents, where indeed it belongs preeminently. Is not this one reason God gave parents to children? To see that their offspring hear of God and His Son Jesus Christ, that they are in a Sunday School where the Bible is taught and believed, to be pointed to the Saviour by good parents—surely this is a prime duty and privilege of parenthood.

What can be done?

Let parents see that "sending" the child to Sunday School and church is not enough. Let our parents be roused by the steady decline of spiritual trends in our time and in our town, and begin to carry responsibility in matters of the spirit, and take them to church!

Law and society demand that the parents provide food, clothing and shelter for their children. Society does not insist that the parent teach his child about God and heaven, of life and death, but God does; One cannot read Old or New Testament without being gripped by the fact that God lays a heavy pressure upon the heart of good parents, for the spiritual welfare of their children.

Would it not be best for the Sunday Schools of the city to continue through the summer? At a time when the need is greatest we should unitedly rise to meet this need! When error and sin are in the saddle, we must be there with the truth!

We seriously advise all parents to make every effort to get their children into the various Daily Vacation Bible Schools flourishing in our city this summer. We shall conduct one at our church July 10-15, with the Portways of Toronto putting on an excellent week, at the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 131 Franklin Street. Look for it.

If there has ever been a time for evangelical Protestantism to unite and meet this challenge, that time is now!

$4.7 Million Is Planned as Aid To State Museums

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A plan calling for $4.7 million a year in state aid to museums throughout New York State was offered today by an advisory committee to the state education commissioner.

The Commissioner's Committee on Museum Resources declared that "museums have not been able to keep pace with the demands of schools and the general public." The committee said lack of adequate financial support locally was partly responsible.

"Museums must look to the state for help," the advisory group said in a report submitted to the Board of Regents at its monthly meeting, which ends today.

The committee proposed:

1. A total of $3.1 million a year be allocated to existing museums under a formula based on their operating expenditures.

2. That $1.5 million a year be spent to develop a system of regional museum associations, which would bring museum facilities to areas that do not now have them.

3. A Museum Research and Development Unit be established in the State Education Department, with an annual budget of $10,000 a year, to administer the aid program and to seek ways by which museums could improve their services.

The committee said that, because of rising costs, some museums had to curtail or discontinue services. These include, the committee said, the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the American Museum of Natural History, both in New York City and the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences.

The committee suggested nine areas as potential sites of regional museum systems, designating them Long Island, Mid-Hudson, Mohawk - Hudson, Adirondack, Oneida, Tioga, Onondaga, Genesee and Erie.

The regional systems would utilize existing museums with "satellite" museums to be established throughout each area to bring museum facilities closer to school children and other potential users.

NE Governors to Push For 21 Drinking Age

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—The nation's governors will battle over medical care for the aged, civil rights, cutback in the National Guard and civil defense at their annual conference next week.

Among the 54 resolutions submitted for possible action at the 54th annual Governors' Conference, those themes predominate.

Northeastern governors, meanwhile, were preparing a move to put the conference on record in favor of a minimum legal age of 21 for drinking.

Proposed by Gov. John Dempsey of Connecticut, it is aimed at New York State, where the legal age is 18. Pennsylvania and New Jersey, which observe 21 as the minimum also, are expected to join ranks with Dempsey.

These states complain that young persons have been crossing the state lines to drink legally in New York and have presented a highway safety hazard by returning home inebriated.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, of New York has submitted a resolution asking the conference to endorse a social security-based medical care for the aged program with an option permitting participation under private health insurance plans.

This would put him at odds with most of his Republican colleagues.

Five Midwest Democratic governors have a resolution endorsing the King-Anderson bill, another social security-financed approach that has the backing of the Kennedy administration.

Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon has a resolution urging continuation of the Kerr-Mills program, the existing plan of medical care to the aged adopted in 1960. It features financing by both state and federal governments on a 50-50 basis.

The resolutions committee will meet Saturday afternoon to discuss these and other resolutions. The governors will hold their business sessions on Monday and Tuesday afternoons to act on the recommendations of the resolutions committee and other regular committees of the conference.

Crash Claims Fifth

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The fifth person is dead as a result of the crash of a private airplane May 30 at the Ripley, N.Y., Airport.

Harold P. Vance, 37, of Ripley, N.Y., died Thursday in Brooke General Hospital, where he was taken June 2. His brother, Robert, who also suffered burns in the crash, died June 4.

Robert's three daughters were killed when the plane carrying all five overturned and burned on takeoff.

Joint Committee On Banking Law Revision to Meet

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A proposal to permit statewide operations by individual banks is expected to be among the subjects aired July 17 and 18 at a public hearing to be conducted here by a legislative committee.

The Joint Legislative Committee to Revise the Banking Law will hear opinions of the banking industry and others before drafting legislation to be submitted to the 1963 Legislature.

Sen. Ernest I. Hatfield, R-Poughkeepsie, will preside at the hearing, his first since assuming the chairmanship last month from John H. Cooke of Erie County, who resigned to take an appointment to the Court of Claims.

Banks in New York State now must operate within district lines set by law.

Holding companies that could operate banks in more than one district are authorized by the statute, but only one such company now is in existence. The Federal Reserve Board recently refused to approve the efforts of a group of banks to form a statewide operation.

Other committee hearings are planned in the New York City area and in Buffalo, but no dates have been set.

Driver Is Summoned After Car Hits Pole

A 19-year-old Newburgh youth was summoned on a charge of failing to keep to the right early today after his car left the Hoagburg Road, Wallkill, and crashed into a pole.

Highland State Police said the car was driven by Glenn Cawein of Newburgh. He was summoned to appear before Town of Shawangunk Justice of the Peace Seth Lippencott on the traffic charge.

Troopers said a passenger in the car, Richard Knapp, 19, also of Newburgh, received contusions of the chest. He was treated at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

Cawein was traveling west on the Wallkill road when the vehicle went out of control on a curve and hit the pole.

To Probe Charges Of Perversion in Onondaga Jails

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — The State Correction Department says that it will investigate charges of sodomy in Onondaga County jails but that if the district attorney has evidence of such offenses it is "up to him to prosecute."

Dist. Atty. Joseph A. Ryan charged Thursday that more than 300 acts of sodomy were committed in the county's two jails during the last year. He said "youths under 21 became the particular targets of the perverted adult criminals."

A spokesman for the Correction Department said Thursday night in Albany that state investigators would look into the matter. The department has been investigating charges that some prisoners were pampered in Onondaga County jails, the spokesman said. He added that alleged acts of sodomy had not previously been reported.

Ryan made the charges on the eve of an expected grand jury report on conditions in the county's jails. He said the alleged acts of sodomy still were under investigation and would not be part of the report.

Boys as young as 16 have been assigned to cells with adult criminals and have "been subjected to indignities that (can) only be called atrocities," Ryan said.

The district attorney had asked peace justices and police officials to avoid, if possible, committing youths under 19 to the jails.

Thomas J. Martin, County correction commissioner, said he had no knowledge of such acts having been committed in the jails, "nor are such acts ever tolerated."

Sheriff Sarto C. Major said, in answer to Ryan's request to separate youths from adult prisoners, that "it's not my responsibility. It's up to the board of supervisors to provide the room."

County Executive John Mulroy said he had "complete confidence" in both Martin and Major.

JFK Learning Promises Come Easier Than Performance

Trade Bill Vote Great Tonic, But No Cure-All for Kennedy

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The thumping House vote for his trade expansion bill came like a tonic for President Kennedy, who had begun to talk like a frustrated man.

It's no sign, however, that other big, controversial measures on the Kennedy program will get through. The reciprocal trade policy, begun in 1934, has had considerable support in both parties for years. President Eisenhower, for instance, was for lowering of trade barriers.

Learns Hard Way

On other issues — his defeated farm bill for example—Kennedy has been learning the hard way the truth of a political maxim:

A presidential candidate's ability to promise is usually far greater than his ability to perform. Especially if he promises big innovations.

In the 1960 campaign, Kennedy pledged bold and novel programs which, he argued, were needed to "get this country going again."

This week he acknowledged, at a news conference, that he lacks a dependable working majority in Congress to get the job done. This despite the fact that the Democrats have big majorities in both chambers—64 to 35 in the Senate and 263 to 174 in the House.

Going on for Years

Kennedy said it was hard to get any big, controversial bill through because so many Democrats vote with the Republicans. But this has been going on for years.

In fact, the last president who could make sweeping promises of bold innovations, with any real hope of being able to perform, was Franklin D. Roosevelt in the 1932 campaign.

When he got elected, Congress really ate out of his hand for a while, passing bill after bill containing vast social and economic innovations. But that was because the country had been going through an economic cataclysm—the Great Depression. The mood of Congress, and the country, was anything but conservative.

But the New Deal ran out of steam after a while. A turning point might be said to have come in 1937. That year Roosevelt, angered because the Supreme Court had knocked down NRA and some of his other measures, proposed a bill which would have enabled him to enlarge and thereby pack the court. The bill was beaten.

Mood Is Conservative

Since the mood of Congress has largely been conservative. There have been no great innovations in domestic policy, barring of course the emergency measures of World War II.

If the Democratic party were a single unity, with a common viewpoint, Kennedy could count on a dependable majority. But the party has seldom been this. It's like a big tent, sheltering liberals and conservatives. To a degree, this also can be said of the Republican party.

In Congress the conservatives — Republican and Democratic — are the dominating force, and there's no sign on the horizon that this situation is likely to change any time soon.

State VFW Bids Congress Move to Allow Prayers

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—The New York State Veterans of Foreign Wars have urged Congress to take immediate action to permit the regular recitation of prayers in public schools.

The organization passed a resolution Thursday, shortly after opening its three-day convention, asking the lawmakers to "at once submit an amendment to the Constitution which would establish the right to religious devotion... in the public schools of the nation. . ."

Official prayers in public schools were banned earlier this week in a decision of the U.S. Supreme Court.

35 Club, Vols, Hurley Score Victories in Babe Ruth League

35 Club and the Vols pushed across runs in the last of the seventh to record wins in the Babe Ruth League last night. The 35 Club topped the K of C, 3-2, while the Vols nipped the Elks Club, 5-4. In other action, Hurley triumphed, 8-2, over Rotary Club.

A hit batter, steal of second and an error enabled the 35 Club to break a 2-2 tie and beat the K of C. This was a good pitcher's battle between Gene Rios of the winners and Dane McGrane.

A hit by Bruce Terwilliger, a pair of walks and an error broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Vols their victory over the Elks. Jack Tremper had the only extra base hit, a double. Frank Stokes was the winner over Ed Mills.

Gary VanEtten hurled a four hitter for Hurley. His mates had only three safeties but they took advantage of 10 bases on balls and some sloppy play on the part of the Rotary infield.

Braves Choose Spada To Face Beacon Braves

It's the battle of the Braves—Kingston against Beacon — in the NY-NJ Baseball League attraction Saturday night at 8:30 at Dietz Stadium.

Manager Dick Bartsch of the local Braves said Big Mike Spada would get another chance to untrack himself.

Spada started Wednesday's game against the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls but departed in the third. Kingston went on to win, 13-12, after nearly frittering away a 9-0 lead.

Medley or Delmonico will draw the starting assignment for the Dutchess County nine, which nipped the Newburgh Rookie All Stars, 7-6, in 10 innings last Sunday.

If Spada runs into trouble, Manager Bartsch can bring in Paul Gardner, who turned in an excellent relief stint against Poughkeepsie. Gardner survived an early flurry then settled down for an outstanding job, getting stronger as he went along.

The Braves are 1-1 in the league standings and hoping that they can make Beacon their second victim.

The Braves' first two starts have been games of extremes—an 8-0 loss to Spring Valley and a 13-12 brawl with Poughkeepsie. This one figures to be a close one.

Bridges SavesGame For Yanks

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

When it comes to cutting the bad guys off at the pass, the New York Yankees call on Marshall (The Sheriff) Bridges, one of the fastest guns in the American League.

He halted another uprising Thursday as the Yankees beat Minnesota 4-2 and leap-frogged into second place. The left-handed fireballer came in with the bases filled and two runs across in the eighth inning, fanned Don Mincher for the third out, then held the Twins in the ninth.

It was the 22nd appearance of the season for Bridges, 31, a short-stint specialist who has been a valuable replacement for the injured southpaw relief star, Luis Arroyo. Bridges' latest performance saved a victory for Bill Stafford, who was supported by homer help from Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

By winning, the Yankees took over the runnerup spot in a virtual deadlock with Minnesota and Los Angeles—all 1½ games behind Cleveland. New York has a three-percentage-point edge on the Angels, who in turn are three points ahead of the Twins.

The Angels bombed Boston 19-7, Baltimore completed a three-game sweep of Chicago on Steve Barber's shutout pitching, 6-0, and Kansas City outscored Washington 10-7 in other AL action. Cleveland and Detroit had the day off.

Maris and Mantle homered in the fourth and the Yankees made it 3-2 against loser Jack Kralick in the seventh when Elston Howard doubled and eventually scored on an error.

18 Hits, 13 Walks

The Angels sprayed 18 hits and collected 13 walks against five Red Sox pitchers. Los Angeles had a pair of five-run innings, in the fourth and seventh. Winning pitcher Eli Grba got two hits and four runs batted in. The loss went to 1961 rookie of the year, Don Schwall, whose record now is 2-9.

Barber gave up eight hits and seven walks in Baltimore's shutout over the White Sox. Brooks Robinson sent the Orioles ahead with a first inning homer off Don Zanni and singled in another run in the third.

Manny Jimenez, the AL's top batter, teamed with the recently-acquired Billy Consolo to pace the Athletics in the hitting match at Washington. Jimenez increased his average to .351 with a double and two singles, while Consolo had three hits. All told, Kansas City collected 18 hits. The Senators had 13 in losing their fourth in a row. Jerry Walker was the winning pitcher and Don Rudolph the loser.

Turck Cards Low Net in Eastern

Charles J. Turck of Wiltwick Country Club won Class A net low honors with 72-7-65 in this week's Eastern New York Golf Association tournament on the par-72 Pine Brook Golf Club layout at Gloversville.

Tony Maragno of the home club fired a 4-under-par 68 for low gross honors.

In Class B, Tom Stenson of Wiltwyck won a prize with 85-13-72. Reuben Leventhal posted 95-21-74.

35 Club, Vols, Hurley Score Victories in Babe Ruth League

35 Club and the Vols pushed across runs in the last of the seventh to record wins in the Babe Ruth League last night. The 35 Club topped the K of C, 3-2, while the Vols nipped the Elks Club, 5-4. In other action, Hurley triumphed, 8-2, over Rotary Club.

A hit batter, steal of second and an error enabled the 35 Club to break a 2-2 tie and beat the K of C. This was a good pitcher's battle between Gene Rios of the winners and Dane McGrane.

A hit by Bruce Terwilliger, a pair of walks and an error broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Vols their victory over the Elks. Jack Tremper had the only extra base hit, a double. Frank Stokes was the winner over Ed Mills.

Gary VanEtten hurled a four hitter for Hurley. His mates had only three safeties but they took advantage of 10 bases on balls and some sloppy play on the part of the Rotary infield.

Bridges SavesGame For Yanks

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

When it comes to cutting the bad guys off at the pass, the New York Yankees call on Marshall (The Sheriff) Bridges, one of the fastest guns in the American League.

He halted another uprising Thursday as the Yankees beat Minnesota 4-2 and leap-frogged into second place. The left-handed fireballer came in with the bases filled and two runs across in the eighth inning, fanned Don Mincher for the third out, then held the Twins in the ninth.

It was the 22nd appearance of the season for Bridges, 31, a short-stint specialist who has been a valuable replacement for the injured southpaw relief star, Luis Arroyo. Bridges' latest performance saved a victory for Bill Stafford, who was supported by homer help from Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

By winning, the Yankees took over the runnerup spot in a virtual deadlock with Minnesota and Los Angeles—all 1½ games behind Cleveland. New York has a three-percentage-point edge on the Angels, who in turn are three points ahead of the Twins.

The Angels bombed Boston 19-7, Baltimore completed a three-game sweep of Chicago on Steve Barber's shutout pitching, 6-0, and Kansas City outscored Washington 10-7 in other AL action. Cleveland and Detroit had the day off.

Maris and Mantle homered in the fourth and the Yankees made it 3-2 against loser Jack Kralick in the seventh when Elston Howard doubled and eventually scored on an error.

18 Hits, 13 Walks

The Angels sprayed 18 hits and collected 13 walks against five Red Sox pitchers. Los Angeles had a pair of five-run innings, in the fourth and seventh. Winning pitcher Eli Grba got two hits and four runs batted in. The loss went to 1961 rookie of the year, Don Schwall, whose record now is 2-9.

Barber gave up eight hits and seven walks in Baltimore's shutout over the White Sox. Brooks Robinson sent the Orioles ahead with a first inning homer off Don Zanni and singled in another run in the third.

Manny Jimenez, the AL's top batter, teamed with the recently-acquired Billy Consolo to pace the Athletics in the hitting match at Washington. Jimenez increased his average to .351 with a double and two singles, while Consolo had three hits. All told, Kansas City collected 18 hits. The Senators had 13 in losing their fourth in a row. Jerry Walker was the winning pitcher and Don Rudolph the loser.

Braves Choose Spada To Face Beacon Braves

It's the battle of the Braves—Kingston against Beacon — in the NY-NJ Baseball League attraction Saturday night at 8:30 at Dietz Stadium.

Manager Dick Bartsch of the local Braves said Big Mike Spada would get another chance to untrack himself.

Spada started Wednesday's game against the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls but departed in the third. Kingston went on to win, 13-12, after nearly frittering away a 9-0 lead.

Medley or Delmonico will draw the starting assignment for the Dutchess County nine, which nipped the Newburgh Rookie All Stars, 7-6, in 10 innings last Sunday.

If Spada runs into trouble, Manager Bartsch can bring in Paul Gardner, who turned in an excellent relief stint against Poughkeepsie. Gardner survived an early flurry then settled down for an outstanding job, getting stronger as he went along.

The Braves are 1-1 in the league standings and hoping that they can make Beacon their second victim.

The Braves' first two starts have been games of extremes—an 8-0 loss to Spring Valley and a 13-12 brawl with Poughkeepsie. This one figures to be a close one.

Hawkins Paces Golf Tourney

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Arnold Palmer's putter was sour, U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus was two strokes off the pace and the $50,000 Western Open golf tournament entered today's second round plainly anybody's party.

The one-stroke leader after Medinah Country Club's "Big Bear" No. 3 course Thursday shook up golf's top players was Fred Hawkins who moved ahead with a 3-under-par 68.

Hawkins, whose only PGA triumph in 16 years on the cash-and-carry trail was a 1956 victory in the Oklahoma City Open, was one of only six players among 135 starters to crack Medinah's par 71.

A stroke behind Hawkins, 38, from El Paso, Tex., was a trio of 69 shooters—Jack Cupit, Charles Sifford and Paul Harney — while Nicklaus and Moon Mullins were the only other sub-par shooters with 70's.

Palmer, who labored on the putting practice green hours after he turned in a 73 in a horrible finish, seemed in a daze over his failure on the greens dating from the U.S. Open two weeks ago. Palmer bogeyed the par three 17th and doubled-bogeyed the par four 18th.

"I putted worse here than at Oakmont—I can't even get near the cup anymore," said Palmer, a three-stroke victim in the National Open playoff with Nicklaus. "It's awfully frustrating. I'd rather have shot an 80 than the way I played the first round here."

Three strokes behind Hawkins at even par 71 were six players, including Sammy Snead, Randy Glover, Dow Finsterwald, Al Giebergers, Ken Still and Bob Brue.

Deadlocked at 72 were no fewer than 11 players, including South African Gary Player.

ARLINGTON SPEEDWAY
POUGHKEEPSIE — 8:30 P. M.
FRIDAY, JULY 6th

The above picture shows what is known as a DIVE BOMBER CRASH. The stunt man drives the car up a steep ramp at a high rate of speed, leaps through the air, and dives into a group of parked old junkers. Seven great daredevils have lost their lives doing this "LEAP OF DEATH" . . . Lucky Teeter . . . Jack Perry . . . Johnny Roberts . . . Walt Owens . . . Roland Nelson . . . Archie Allison . . . and Elton Cary . . . and still men continue to do these dangerous thrillers.

At the Big Combined Show, the largest entry of the fastest stock cars and best drivers to appear in any event will be on hand; and the Auto Daredevils will do 27 events — making a total of 35 SMASHING, CRASHING, WRECKING events in one big show.

The admission is only $2 for adults, 75 cents for children.

Maple Leafs Now In Second Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs, getting their second-straight shutout, have vaulted into second place in the International Baseball League, moving past the slumping Buffalo Bisons.

Right-hander Orlando Pena tossed a snappy four-hit, 3-0 blanking of the Atlanta Crackers while leading Jacksonville marked up its eighth-straight victory, 9-5, in 12 innings at Buffalo Thursday night. Syracuse beat Richmond, 3-2, and Columbus stopped Rochester, 4-2, in the others.

Pena (6-6) recorded his third shutout of the season in pitching the Leafs into second place. Bob Sadowski, Atlanta's starter, also allowed only four hits in the seven innings he worked, but was betrayed by some lack of support. Three errors let in two unearned runs.

Hawkins Paces Golf Tourney

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Arnold Palmer's putter was sour, U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus was two strokes off the pace and the $50,000 Western Open golf tournament entered today's second round plainly anybody's party.

The one-stroke leader after Medinah Country Club's "Big Bear" No. 3 course Thursday shook up golf's top players was Fred Hawkins who moved ahead with a 3-under-par 68.

Hawkins, whose only PGA triumph in 16 years on the cash-and-carry trail was a 1956 victory in the Oklahoma City Open, was one of only six players among 135 starters to crack Medinah's par 71.

A stroke behind Hawkins, 38, from El Paso, Tex., was a trio of 69 shooters—Jack Cupit, Charles Sifford and Paul Harney — while Nicklaus and Moon Mullins were the only other sub-par shooters with 70's.

Palmer, who labored on the putting practice green hours after he turned in a 73 in a horrible finish, seemed in a daze over his failure on the greens dating from the U.S. Open two weeks ago. Palmer bogeyed the par three 17th and doubled-bogeyed the par four 18th.

"I putted worse here than at Oakmont—I can't even get near the cup anymore," said Palmer, a three-stroke victim in the National Open playoff with Nicklaus. "It's awfully frustrating. I'd rather have shot an 80 than the way I played the first round here."

Three strokes behind Hawkins at even par 71 were six players, including Sammy Snead, Randy Glover, Dow Finsterwald, Al Giebergers, Ken Still and Bob Brue.

Deadlocked at 72 were no fewer than 11 players, including South African Gary Player.

Maple Leafs Now In Second Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs, getting their second-straight shutout, have vaulted into second place in the International Baseball League, moving past the slumping Buffalo Bisons.

Right-hander Orlando Pena tossed a snappy four-hit, 3-0 blanking of the Atlanta Crackers while leading Jacksonville marked up its eighth-straight victory, 9-5, in 12 innings at Buffalo Thursday night. Syracuse beat Richmond, 3-2, and Columbus stopped Rochester, 4-2, in the others.

Pena (6-6) recorded his third shutout of the season in pitching the Leafs into second place. Bob Sadowski, Atlanta's starter, also allowed only four hits in the seven innings he worked, but was betrayed by some lack of support. Three errors let in two unearned runs.

Irvin Paul Sets Two-Mile Record At Yonkers Track

Early favored Stephan Smith was scratched, but his full brother, Irvin Paul, proved Thursday night that swiftness ran — or rather paced — in the family by winning the $75,000 2-mile National Championship Pace at Yonkers Raceway in record time.

Irvin Paul's time of 4:08 2-5 surpassed the previous American mark of 4:13 1-5 set by Scottish Pence at Roosevelt Raceway in 1951.

The victorious 5-year-old gelding, driven by Charles King, returned $16.20 as a 7-to-1 shot. His brother, winner of last week's $65,000 Good Time Pace, was withdrawn when driver Gene Sears discovered the horse had gone lame in the right front leg.

The winner earned $37,500, raising his season's earnings to $91,375.

Speed also was in evidence Thursday night at Saratoga Raceway, where Pro Hanover set an event and national season's record in winning the $14,400 Runnymede Division of the Lord Baltimore Stake.

The time of 2:02 bettered the Runnymede record of 2:02 3-5 set last year by Orbiter. Pro Hanover also erased his own national season's mark of 2:03 4-5 for 3-year-old trotting colts on a half-mile track.

Demeter Helps LA Regain Top

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 3,000-mile trip from Los Angles to Philadelphia has put Don Demeter on the road to success. And, at the moment, the Dodgers couldn't be happier over the long ride that changed the promising outfielder from an expendable to an untouchable.

The 27-year-old right-handed swinger gave his former Dodger mates an assist Thursday, powering two homers as the Phillies whipped San Francisco 7-2 and gave Los Angeles an opportunity to regain first place in the National League.

It took the Dodgers 13 innings and 4 hours and 9 minutes to grab the chance, finally subduing the stubborn New York Mets 5-4 when Frank Howard doubled Jim Gilliam home with the winning run. That gave the Dodgers a half-game edge over the runner-up Giants.

The Dodgers sent Demeter to Philadelphia last year for pitcher Dick Farrell and infielder Joe Koppe—both no longer with the Dodgers. Demeter, meanwhile, has become the Phils' top power producer.

Homer Snaps Tie

He got the Phils started against the Giants with a second inning homer, then hit a two-run shot in the seventh that snapped a 2-2 tie and ended San Francisco's five-game victory string.

Besides the games involving the leaders, only one other was scheduled in the NL. The Chicago Cubs knocked off fourth-place St. Louis 7-2.

Bob Wine and Clay Dalrymple also homered for the Phils. Jim Owens started for the Phillies, but left in the second when a double by Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou's bunt single, a walk, Jim Davenport's ground out and Jose Pagan's infield single scored the Giants' runs. Rookie Billy Smith (1-1) took over and allowed only six hits the rest of the way. Juan Marichal (11-5) was the loser.

The winner came across for the Dodgers when Gilliam opened with a walk off Ken MacKenzie (2-3), moved to second as Willie Davis grounded out and raced home on Howard's hit. That gave the victory to Ed Roebuck (5-0), who allowed the Mets only two hits for 5 1-3 innings. The Dodgers had tied it in the eighth on Maury Wills' triple and a single by Gilliam after the New Yorkers had pulled ahead in the top of the inning when Gene Woodling scored one run with a sacrifice fly and pinch hitter Rod Kanehl knocked in two with a bases-loaded single.

Cal Koonce (6-2), a 21-year-old rookie, scattered 10 St. Louis hits. A first inning run-producing triple by Billy Williams and Ernie Banks' two-run double in the third put it away early against the Cardinals and Bob Gibson (9-6).

Football Reruns Top TV Slate

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The time has come when network television, up to its corporate neck in reruns, calls any fresh show a "highlight" and labels revivals of programs unseen for several seasons as "premieres".

Sharp-eyed searchers may discover a few items of passing interest during the next seven days:

Tonight, there's an out-of-season football game on NBC (9:30-conclusion) from Buffalo, N.Y., between two squads of players picked from the American Football Coaches' Association All-America lists of 1961.

Ed Sullivan's Sunday night show (CBS, 8-9) is new, one taped in Paris months ago during a European junket.

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz return to CBS Monday night in reruns of hour-long comedy shows of several seasons back (9-10).

NBC will give an hour Tuesday (7:30-8:30 p.m.) to a debate between Oxford University and North Texas State University on the decline of Western civilization.

"The Comedy Spot," a collection of pilot shows for series that didn't get sold, will start on CBS that night (9 - 9:30). "Talent Scouts" will also be revived (10-11) to give Garry Moore and his CBS production unit a vacation.

"Dean on Nine" is the title of Wednesday night's NBC "Mystery Theatre" program (9-10) and will star Louis Hayward and Signe Hasso.

D. Harris Due Sunday At Onteora

The roaring stock cars return to Onteora Speedway Sunday, with the first qualifying events scheduled at 2:30 p. m. over the now dustless half mile clay track.

D. D. (Rebel) Harris, the 1961 track champion and Don Avery, the runnerup, will head a star-studded field. Among the popular favorites expected to show are Johnny Flach of Westerlo, Ernie Beesmer of Olive Bridge; Walt Schubert of Cold Springs and Stretch Van Steenburg of Saugerties.

The program will consist of three qualifying heats, a consolation 25-lap feature event.

The picnic area also will be open each Sunday for the convenience of fans that bring the family for a Sunday afternoon of picnicking and auto racing thrills.

Irvin Paul Sets Two-Mile Record At Yonkers Track

Early favored Stephan Smith was scratched, but his full brother, Irvin Paul, proved Thursday night that swiftness ran — or rather paced — in the family by winning the $75,000 2-mile National Championship Pace at Yonkers Raceway in record time.

Irvin Paul's time of 4:08 2-5 surpassed the previous American mark of 4:13 1-5 set by Scottish Pence at Roosevelt Raceway in 1951.

The victorious 5-year-old gelding, driven by Charles King, returned $16.20 as a 7-to-1 shot. His brother, winner of last week's $65,000 Good Time Pace, was withdrawn when driver Gene Sears discovered the horse had gone lame in the right front leg.

Irvin Paul came from last place to take command at a mile and length and a half in front of Vicki's Jet. Henry T. Adios, the favorite at post time, was third.

The winner earned $37,500, raising his season's earnings to $91,375.

Speed also was in evidence Thursday night at Saratoga Raceway, where Pro Hanover set an event and national season's record in winning the $14,400 Runnymede Division of the Lord Baltimore Stake.

The time of 2:02 bettered the Runnymede record of 2:02 3-5 set last year by Orbiter. Pro Hanover also erased his own national season's mark of 2:03 4-5 for 3-year-old trotting colts on a half-mile track.

Demeter Helps LA RegainTop

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 3,000-mile trip from Los Angles to Philadelphia has put Don Demeter on the road to success. And, at the moment, the Dodgers couldn't be happier over the long ride that changed the promising outfielder from an expendable to an untouchable.

The 27-year-old right-handed swinger gave his former Dodger mates an assist Thursday, powering two homers as the Phillies whipped San Francisco 7-2 and gave Los Angeles an opportunity to regain first place in the National League.

It took the Dodgers 13 innings and 4 hours and 9 minutes to grab the chance, finally subduing the stubborn New York Mets 5-4 when Frank Howard doubled Jim Gilliam home with the winning run. That gave the Dodgers a half-game edge over the runner-up Giants.

The Dodgers sent Demeter to Philadelphia last year for pitcher Dick Farrell and infielder Joe Koppe—both no longer with the Dodgers. Demeter, meanwhile, has become the Phils' top power producer.

Homer Snaps Tie

He got the Phils started against the Giants with a second inning homer, then hit a two-run shot in the seventh that snapped a 2-2 tie and ended San Francisco's five-game victory string.

Besides the games involving the leaders, only one other was scheduled in the NL. The Chicago Cubs knocked off fourth-place St. Louis 7-2.

Bob Wine and Clay Dalrymple also homered for the Phils. Jim Owens started for the Phillies, but left in the second when a double by Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou's bunt single, a walk, Jim Davenport's ground out and Jose Pagan's infield single scored the Giants' runs. Rookie Billy Smith (1-1) took over and allowed only six hits the rest of the way. Juan Marichal (11-5) was the loser.

The winner came across for the Dodgers when Gilliam opened with a walk off Ken MacKenzie (2-3), moved to second as Willie Davis grounded out and raced home on Howard's hit. That gave the victory to Ed Roebuck (5-0), who allowed the Mets only two hits for 5 1-3 innings. The Dodgers had tied it in the eighth on Maury Wills' triple and a single by Gilliam after the New Yorkers had pulled ahead in the top of the inning when Gene Woodling scored one run with a sacrifice fly and pinch hitter Rod Kanehl knocked in two with a bases-loaded single.

Cal Koonce (6-2), a 21-year-old rookie, scattered 10 St. Louis hits. A first inning run-producing triple by Billy Williams and Ernie Banks' two-run double in the third put it away early against the Cardinals and Bob Gibson (9-6).

Football Reruns Top TV Slate

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The time has come when network television, up to its corporate neck in reruns, calls any fresh show a "highlight" and labels revivals of programs unseen for several seasons as "premieres".

Sharp-eyed searchers may discover a few items of passing interest during the next seven days:

Tonight, there's an out-of-season football game on NBC (9:30-conclusion) from Buffalo, N.Y., between two squads of players picked from the American Football Coaches' Association All-America lists of 1961.

Ed Sullivan's Sunday night show (CBS, 8-9) is new, one taped in Paris months ago during a European junket.

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz return to CBS Monday night in reruns of hour-long comedy shows of several seasons back (9-10).

NBC will give an hour Tuesday (7:30-8:30 p.m.) to a debate between Oxford University and North Texas State University on the decline of Western civilization.

"The Comedy Spot," a collection of pilot shows for series that didn't get sold, will start on CBS that night (9 - 9:30). "Talent Scouts" will also be revived (10-11) to give Garry Moore and his CBS production unit a vacation.

"Dean on Nine" is the title of Wednesday night's NBC "Mystery Theatre" program (9-10) and will star Louis Hayward and Signe Hasso.

D. Harris DueSunday At Onteora

The roaring stock cars return to Onteora Speedway Sunday, with the first qualifying events scheduled at 2:30 p. m. over the now dustless half mile clay track.

D. D. (Rebel) Harris, the 1961 track champion and Don Avery, the runnerup, will head a star-studded field. Among the popular favorites expected to show are Johnny Flach of Westerlo, Ernie Beesmer of Olive Bridge; Walt Schubert of Cold Springs and Stretch Van Steenburg of Saugerties.

The program will consist of three qualifying heats, a consolation 25-lap feature event.

The picnic area also will be open each Sunday for the convenience of fans that bring the family for a Sunday afternoon of picnicking and auto racing thrills.

To get the most fun out of the following tongue twisters, say each of them aloud three times as rapidly as you can. Then ask your friends to do the same. Here are the tongue twisters:

Wilful Wilbur Wimple waits worriedly while winsome Wanda White works world-wide wonders wickedly.

Dashing Danny Dimwit daren't do daily doubles daringly.

Edgar Evan eats every elegant eel easily.

Fat, flat flapjacks feed few famous faces.

Handsome, happy Harry High Horse hats wholesale Henry Hearty Handshake.

Jocular Jack Jenson jousts jesting Jim Johnson.

Lazy Lee Lighthouse lightly leaped over Little Lil's lost lamb.

Silly Shelia Southworth suddenly seems sweetly, sagaciously shy.

Man — How long did your wife take to learn to drive a car?

Friend — Well, let's see, she started eleven years ago come next October.

A man who has just returned from Boston is chortling over a good joke on that correct and literary city. He say that in the reading room of one of the most exclusive clubs in the Hub there is a sign that reads: Only low conversation permitted here.

TAKE ALONG A SIX PACK

Summer's the time for going places—for doing things—for having fun! It's the time for six-packs of Ballantine Beer! It tastes so Golden Mellow Good... from the Golden Harvest. From barley specially grown, and from costlier, premium hops mellowed two weeks longer than the hops in any other beer. Today, taste how Golden Mellow Good a beer can be. Take along a frosty six-pack...or more... of Ballantine Beer.

Switch Coming Of U.S. Envoys In Moscow, Paris

WASHINGTON (AP)—Authoritative sources report a diplomatic shuffle in the works. Two likely results: new U.S. ambassadors in Moscow and Paris.

Here's how the realignment is expected to take place:

Llewellyn E. Thompson, ambassador to Moscow, leaves his post toward the end of next month. His replacement: Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

Thompson returns to Washington, taking over from Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as special assistant to the secretary for Soviet affairs. Bohlen, in turn, goes to Paris, replacing James M. Gavin as ambassador.

There has been no decision on a replacement for Kohler as head of the Bureau of European Affairs or on what will happen to Gavin, a retired lieutenant general in his first diplomatic post.

The changes reportedly are subject to approval by Secretary of State Dean Rusk who returned Thursday night after a 10-day tour of Western Europe.

Bohlen and Thompson are career ambassadors, the highest rank in the foreign service. Kohler is in charge of the department's task force on Berlin and chairman of the ambassadorial steering group discussing Allied policy on the divided German city.

New Stand Costs Him 3 Bags of Peanuts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — For 31 years, physically handicapped Cal Phares has been selling peanuts on a Miami street corner.

Policeman Raloh Martin noticed recently that the 59-year-old Phares' vending stand was getting rickety.

"Cal used to give free peanuts to kids who couldn't afford them," Martin said. "I figured it was about time to get him a new stand."

The officer was planning a collection when contractor Vernon Burt volunteered to handle the job.

During off hours Thursday, the contractor and his crew surprised Phares by moving in and building a sturdy new stand. With the stand, worth about $75, went a bill of sale specifying a price of three bags of peanuts.

With tears in his eyes, Phares paid off promptly.

Kingston Kiwanis Hears of Denver Parley Activities

A general report of the recent convention of Kiwanis International, held at Denver, Colo., was presented to the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by President Howard R. St. John and Hubert Hoderath, local delegates.

The report indicated an excellent convention, well planned and well executed, according to President St. John.

It was revealed at the meeting that 22 members of the local Kiwanis Club have signed up to attend the annual meeting with the Kingston, Ontario, Canada, club, to be held in the Canadian city in August.

Hubert Hoderath, in charge of arrangements for the Canadian trip, announced that plans were underway to charter a bus for the trip, and that the Kiwanians from across-the-border had announced that a boat trip on the St. Lawrence River would be included in the weekend inter-club gathering.

To Make Appeal On Decision About Time for Voting

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The state attorney general will appeal to the state's highest court a lower-court decision involving the period of time a worker may take off for voting.

A decision of the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, upset the Rockefeller administration's interpretation of the 1961 statute.

When Gov. Rockefeller signed the law he said it would guarantee "each worker at least four consecutive hours outside his work day in which to vote at any election."

The appellate court ruled Wednesday, however, that "the employe is entitled to take off only so much working time as will, when added to his voting time outside his working hours, enable him to vote." The court held that an arbitrary period of time, such as four hours, could not be set.

A spokesman for Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said Thursday the decision would be appealed to the Court of Appeals. Lefkowitz was named as the defendant in the case because of the manner in which the state interpreted the law.

Killed by Baler

RAVENA, N. Y. (AP) — Ernest Payne, 66, was killed Thursday when dragged beneath a baler on his farm near this Albany County village.

State Police said he apparently was making an adjustment to the machine when the tractor to which it was attached rolled forward.

Dies of Injuries

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — William J. Burke, 20, of Syracuse, died early today in St. Joseph's Hospital of injuries suffered Thursday night in an automobile accident near Marietta, southwest of here.

State Police said the car in which Burke was riding left Route 174 and overturned. The victim was thrown from the car.

Readies New Hearings

NEW YORK (AP)—A legislative committee considering the question of teen-age drinking prepared today for hearings in other cities after listening to two days of testimony from New Jersey officials and others.

The Newc Jersey witnesses voiced strong appeals for New York to raise from 18 to 21 the minimum age for purchasing alcoholic beverages.

Switch Coming Of U.S. Envoys In Moscow, Paris

WASHINGTON (AP)—Authoritative sources report a diplomatic shuffle in the works. Two likely results: new U.S. ambassadors in Moscow and Paris.

Here's how the realignment is expected to take place:

Llewellyn E. Thompson, ambassador to Moscow, leaves his post toward the end of next month. His replacement: Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

Thompson returns to Washington, taking over from Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as special assistant to the secretary for Soviet affairs. Bohlen, in turn, goes to Paris, replacing James M. Gavin as ambassador.

There has been no decision on a replacement for Kohler as head of the Bureau of European Affairs or on what will happen to Gavin, a retired lieutenant general in his first diplomatic post.

The changes reportedly are subject to approval by Secretary of State Dean Rusk who returned Thursday night after a 10-day tour of Western Europe.

Bohlen and Thompson are career ambassadors, the highest rank in the foreign service. Kohler is in charge of the department's task force on Berlin and chairman of the ambassadorial steering group discussing Allied policy on the divided German city.
